

Nation Roars Welcome to Pershing

Tremendous Ovation as Commander of A. E. F. Returns Home to Report "Job Finished"

Cannon Boom, Guns Roar, Whistles Shriek, Thousands Cheer and Seaplanes Circle Overhead as Leviathan Steams Into New York Harbor With Conquering Hero Aboard—Nation, State and City Officials Pay Tribute

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Pershing is home.

Standing on the bridge of the huge Leviathan, itself symbolic of victory over Germany, the commander of the greatest host ever gathered under the stars and stripes, came slowly up the bay today, world famed and hailed as a conquering hero should be.

Sad of face, stern and impassive, a splendid figure of a soldier, he might have been thinking, as the familiar landmarks of New York came into view, of the day 27 months ago when he slipped secretly out of the harbor on his way to France to prepare the way for the hosts that were to follow. Then he was only a major general.

He came back today with four stars on his shoulders—the fourth man since Washington to wear them under the American flag.

The welcome given him would have quickened the pulse of the hero of a Roman triumph. Fresh from the capitals of Allied Europe where honors had been heaped upon him, the first American to lead an army across the Atlantic was shown that "home sweet home" has a meaning deeper than "Hall to the chief."

Tremendous Ovation.

No foreign throats could voice the cheers, no alien hearts could pulse the greeting that was Pershing's here today. There was a hint of tears in the welcome for those who gave it knew that not even the plaudits of a grateful people could banish from the sad faced soldier's mind the memory of his own life's tragedy.

Dawn barely broke when the Leviathan loomed through the mists off Ambrose channel lightship. Steaming slowly through the narrow passageway, the great steamship was greeted by a convoy of six destroyers while seaplanes circled overhead.

Fort's Boomed Salute.

The forts which guard the harbor boomed a general salute as the ship which once was the pride of Germany crept past quarantine and nosed through the narrows into the harbor under the shadow of Liberty's statue. While the guns still echoed, the whistles of merchant vessels from the seven seas, tugs, ferryboats, excursion craft of every kind and the sirens of factories on shore, joined in a discordant salutation.

Thousands Line Shores.

The shores of Staten Island, Brooklyn, New Jersey and Manhattan were lined with thousands and shouting came faintly across the waters of the bay to the familiar figure on the bridge. They made up the vanguard of the vast army of well-comers which already had packed Battery Park and overflowed into the streets beyond, waiting patiently until General Pershing had been greeted by Vice President Marshall and the secretary of war, and was ready to cross the Hudson river from Hoboken to the great city which was eager to pay him tribute.

Volley of Cheering.

The great liner came up to her pier at 5 o'clock and as she was being warped into her berth there was a tremendous volley of cheering from the crowd gathered there. General Pershing, smiling in appreciation with head bowed, bowed repeatedly in response. Once he forgot his dignity in his enthusiasm at returning home and

WILSON SPEAKS AT OMAHA, NEB.

President Discusses Reservations to League of Nations for First Time

"Cannot Rewrite Treaty, We Must Take It or Leave It," He Declares

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 5.—Discussing for the first time during his speaking tour proposed reservations to the League of Nations, President Wilson replied in an address here today to arguments advanced by those who favor reservations.

"A reservation," he said, "is an assent with a big 'but.' We agree—but."

The proposed reservation providing for unconditional withdrawal from membership, he said, meant that its sponsors wanted to "sit near the door with their hand on the knob," and if they saw anything they didn't like to "scuttle and run."

The league proviso that international obligations must be filled before withdrawal, never would restrain the United States, he said, because this nation always would live up to its provisions.

Those who wanted a reservation to Article 10, he continued, simply didn't want to come in now but wanted to be "late joiners."

Any reservation regarding the Monroe Doctrine, he added, was unnecessary because the doctrine has been "swallowed, hook, line and sinker" by the peace conference and had been authenticated by the big powers of the world for the first time.

So far as reservation about domestic questions were concerned, he declared, it would be a work of supererogation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Reports of the death of three members of the crew of the U. S. S. New Mexico, flagship of Admiral Hugh Rodman, and the injury of 40 others in a fire aboard the vessel here, last night, were confirmed today by officers, who directed the fire fighting.

REDEDICATION SERVICE

A rededication service was held last evening at the North Billerica Baptist church, and the service which was held because of considerable interior improvements to the church building, was largely attended. The service was presided over by the pastor, Rev. Chester J. Armstrong, while the speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. Willard E. Waterbury of Boston. The town was represented by T. F. Sheridan, chairman of the board of selectmen, who also delivered a brief address. In the course of the evening appropriate hymns were sung by the choir under the direction of Miss Minnie Clifford.

STORE KEEPERS OBJECT TO SIEGAL BILL

Vigorous opposition to the terms of the so-called Siegal bill, now before congress, which provides that retail merchants must designate on all goods they sell not only the retail price, but also the original cost price of each article, was expressed by 20 Lowell merchants at an enthusiastic meeting held in the board of trade rooms in Merrimack street this morning under the auspices of the mercantile association of the board. Harold L. Chaffoy presided.

It was voted to send a letter of protest to the congressional committee before whom this bill is to be heard. The merchants felt that it would be an injustice to them to be compelled to mark the cost price of their goods and then have to explain the wide difference between that and the retail price.

The proposed law does not take into account the cost of transportation, freight, drayage, advertising, lighting and other overhead expenses which the merchant must pay. It is pointed out that considerable confusion would be caused and much time of salesmen and merchants taken up in explaining the divergence between the cost and retail prices of goods sold.

Another meeting of local merchants will be held at the board of trade rooms next Monday morning at 9.30 for a further discussion of the matter. It is also planned to form a mercantile division of the board at this meeting.

SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS!

Lowell's Public and Private Schools Opened Today—Big Attendance Reported

Precise Figures Showing New Registration Not Available; Portable Schools Occupied

Lowell's 1919-20 school season got under way this morning at 5.30 o'clock when all the public schools and the majority of parochial schools opened their doors after the long summer vacation. Increased attendances, due to the cessation of war industries, were the rule in almost every school.

In an atmosphere strongly inclined toward the humid Lowell's youngsters once more took up their books and supplies for another onslaught against the forces of the unlearned. Customary opening day scenes were once more enacted, teacher greeted pupil and pupil teacher, vacation experiences were gone over, pupils became acquainted with each other and in a few short hours Lowell's complex educational system was again under way.

Of course, precise figures as to the new registration are not available today nor will they be for several days. But principals and superiors in the various schools reported that on the whole the attendance had increased over the 1918 figures.

According to Supt. Hugh J. Malloy the approximate normal registration

TO INCREASE AMERICAN LEGION MEMBERSHIP

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—A nation-wide campaign to increase the membership of the American Legion to 1,000,000 veterans of the great war will be started by all state branches and local posts throughout the country on Monday, September 15th. The drive will last six days, closing on Saturday, September 20th. In that time each state will be expected to fill a membership quota necessary to make the strength of the legion nationally one million members.

More than one-third of the million—500,000 soldiers, sailors and marines of the recent war organized in upward of 3500 posts from coast to coast—has already been obtained. Henry D. Lindsey, chairman of the national executive committee has appointed these 500,000 the general membership drive committee, each one with a quota of three of his "buddies" to enroll in his local post in the week of the campaign. The slogan of the drive will be "Let's Stick Together." It will be posted in large and small communities throughout the country.

The membership quota for each state has been worked out on the basis of the number of men who served in the army, navy or marine corps during the war from that state. Many states have already reached their assigned quotas already and the drive in those states will be to double their present enrollment. One of the chief incentives of the campaign will be the fact that each state's voting strength at the national convention in Minneapolis on November 10, 11 and 12 will be based on its membership prior to October 10, thirty days before the convention assemblies.

The campaign for one million members will be conducted on intensive lines. Counties and posts will be assigned their individual quotas. Teams will be formed in each post and cities, towns and country districts divided into workable sub-divisions so that an opportunity will be available for a

Manufacturers Would Make Farmer the Goat—Statement by Houston

David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, does not assent to the theory that the prices of farm products should fall before the prices of manufactured commodities fall. He makes this clear in replying to a recent communication in which it was stated that "There must be a drop in prices before there is a drop in wages, and it would seem that the farmer is the man who is going to be first hit."

This theory has been advanced by a number of manufacturers, said the secretary, who continued, "It is clearly an unjust contention. It manifestly would not do to ask farmers to produce, buying everything that they have to buy from manufacturers at high prices, with the assurance to them that their products will fall in price, and that then manufacturers will consider what they will do with reference to their own prices. Obviously, manufacturers must be willing to make at least a contemporaneous decrease in their prices. It might even be contended that they should make a prior decrease in their prices, since the farmer's operations involve a year and he could not recoup for twelve months, or could not recoup at all, because, on the theory put forth, his products would fall in price. It seems to me that business men must be brought to realize that if we are to get back to the normal, they must get about immediately to do their part, and unquestionably, protecting in manufactured products must be eliminated. Of course, everything possible will be done to enable the farmer to produce more economically, so that if prices do fall, he will not sustain a loss, or so great a loss. All the efforts of the department of agriculture and of the land-grant colleges have this aim. They are trying to bring about better methods of cultivation, better financing, better marketing, the elimination of plant and animal diseases and insect pests, and the better utilization of labor. Much has been done in this direction, and more will be done as time passes."

AFTER THE CELEBRATION
The members of the general committee in charge of the welcome home celebration for the French-speaking service men, which was held Labor day, held a meeting at the C.M.A.C. hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of receiving reports from the various sub-committees. It was announced

Women returning from the seashore with tanned, reddened or freckled complexions will be wise in immediately taking up the mercurochrome treatment. Weather-beaten skin had best come off for no amount of "beautifying" will ever make such skin pretty to look at. The surest, safest, easiest way to shed the despoiled epidermis is with the treatment suggested. Put the wax on before retiring, as you would with cold cream, and rub it off next morning with warm water. Minute particles of scurf skin will peel off day by day, gradually showing the healthy, youthful skin beneath. One ounce of mercurochrome was obtainable at any drug store, or enough to make any discolored or spotted complexion clear, white and healthy. Its action is so gentle no harm is caused and the face shows no trace of its use. A line shows no trace that after all bills are paid there will be a balance left. The executive committee was authorized to send a letter of appreciation to all who have contributed to the success of the celebration. Chairman Joseph L. Lamoureux was in the chair.

DELEGATES APPOINTED

Friends of Irish Freedom to Hof Convention at Wor-ces, Sept. 21

Two delegates to represent this city at the state convention of the Friends of Irish Freedom to be held in Worcester Sunday, Sept. 21, were appointed last evening by the Friends of Irish Freedom of this city at a well attended meeting in the Fibernian hall. The delegates chosen were: M. J. Noonan, P. J. Mahoney, M. J. Monahan, John Barrett, James O'Sullivan, Daniel Cosgrove, P. W. Moran, Miss Jennie Dillon, Mrs. John McInerney, John Kenney, M. F. Quinn and F. J. Kierce. Another matter of interest and importance which came up at last evening's meeting was the report of James O'Sullivan on the hearing on the Irish question held before the senate foreign relations committee recently. The report was optimistic throughout and went into detail concerning the hearing. Congratulations were extended to Messrs. Walsh, Ryan and Dunne, who appeared in Paris as the representatives of the Irish race in America, as well as to Judge Cobalan, Burke Cockran and Rev. Dr. James Grattan Mythen. Mr. O'Sullivan expressed his confidence in the United States senate and said that its vote of sympathy had done much to make Ireland's question vital and international. He hoped that the League of Nations would not be accepted until certain reservations were made in its covenant which would allow the establishment of an independent Ireland. Others present, including Daniel Cosgrove, were heard and remarks listened to with interest. At 10 o'clock the meeting adjourned until the first Sunday in October unless otherwise called by the chair.

Welcome to Pershing

waved his cap as he saluted the happy throng.

At the pier were many dignitaries of nation, state and city and it was there he was welcomed on behalf of the nation.

"Hail, Hail, Gang's All Here."

The first division's band of 100 pieces on board the ship, the members of which had served throughout all the fighting in which the veteran unit had been engaged, began playing in response to the welcoming strains from the pier. "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" and other airs, mingled with the cheers. For three blocks or more back from the river the jubilation could be heard. The Leviathan docked at 8:43.

General Pershing stepped ashore at 9:20 o'clock. Waiting for him was Secretary Baker with hands outstretched. Behind Mr. Baker were Senator Warren of Wyoming, General Pershing's father-in-law, Mrs. Warren and William G. McAdoo. Back of this little group were General March, a score of other generals and members of the mayor's committee of welcome.

After the first greetings were over General Pershing made this statement to the Associated Press:

"There isn't anything of consequence to say in circumstances like these. It is overwhelming, overpowering. To say that I'm glad to be home is superfluous. I accept this in the name of the brave fellows who came over and served to the best of their ability, making our success possible."

Baker's Address of Welcome

Secretary Baker, after expressing his own gratitude for the services of General Pershing read a letter from President Wilson telling of his regret at not being able to join in the reception and paying tribute to the returned soldier.

"About two and a half years ago," said Secretary Baker, "by the president's direction, I had the honor of designating you to lead the armies of the United States in France. Today you return, your mission accomplished with victory written on the banners of the greatest army the nation has ever had and with the priceless foundations of liberty and freedom saved for us and for the world as the result of our participation in the world war."

"The task entrusted to you required

all the imagination, all the energy, and all the genius of a great commander. From the first you had the complete confidence of the president and the secretary of war. This confidence remained unshaken to the end. From the beginning you had all the support the people of the United States could give. You and your great army embodied for them their country and their country's cause. They worked with devotion and self-sacrifice to sustain and supply you with troops and equipment. Their hearts went overseas with you and their prayers for your welfare and that of your men were constant.

"Doubtless the confidence and affection of your fellow citizens were an inspiration to you in the hours of preparation and in the hours of battle and the superb exploits of the army under your command were in turn an inspiration to our national effort."

Great Victories Won

"The great victories are now won. Your magnificent army has returned and the soldiers who once marched through the thickets of the Argonne are citizens again, filled with high memories of great deeds and carrying into life the inspiration which membership in that great company and sacrifice for that great cause engendered. Your return closes the history of the American expeditionary forces. The president had hoped to be here personally to speak on behalf of the nation a word of welcome. In his enforced absence, he has directed me to speak to you."

"I bid you welcome, gratefully, on behalf of the country you have served and on behalf of the people whose sons you have led. The confidence with which we sent you away, you have sacredly kept. Wherever there is a soldier or a friend of a soldier, there is a heart which rejoices at the deliverance of mankind from its peril, you and your great army are remembered and loved. You return not only to American soil, but to the heart of the country."

Pres. Wilson's Greeting

"The president has directed me to read to you this message:

"My dear General Pershing: I am distressed that I cannot greet you in person. It would give me the greatest pleasure to grasp your hand and say to you what is in my heart and in the hearts of all true Americans as we hail your return to the homeland you have served so gallantly. Notwithstanding my physical absence, may I not, as your commander-in-chief, and as spokesman of our fellow countrymen, bid you an affectionate and enthusiastic welcome—a welcome warmed with the ardor of genuine affection and deep admiration. You have served the country with fine devotion and admirable ef-

Efficiency in a war forever memorable as the world's triumphant protest against injustice and its vindication of liberty—the liberty of peoples and of nations.

"We are proud of you and of the men you commanded. No finer armies ever set their indomitable strength and unconquerable spirit against the forces of wrong. Their glory is the glory of the nation and it is with a thrill of profound pride that we greet you as their leader and commander. You have just come from the sea, and from the care of men of the navy who made the achievements of our arms on land possible and who so gallantly assisted to clear the seas of their lurking peril. Our hearts go out to them, too."

"It is delightful to see you home again, well and fit for the fatigues you must endure before we are done with our associates on the other side of the sea. It will be delightful on many occasions to speak their praise. I speak now only of our personal joy that you are at home again and that we have the opportunity to make you feel the warmth of our affectionate welcome."

Fanfare of Trumpets

As General Pershing was escorted to the upper deck of the pier, a guard of honor from the First Division presented arms while a large detail of officers saluted. Along the whole length of the pier there was a double line of soldiers and welfare workers who had seen service in France. As the commander approached there was a fanfare of trumpets.

Secretary Baker, who acted as master of ceremonies, escorted General Pershing to a platform, where he welcomed him in behalf of the nation. At the close of his address, Mr. Baker handed to General Pershing his permanent commission as a full general in the American army. The commander bowed his acknowledgment and then, leaning over the platform, handed the scroll to his son, Warren, who displayed all a small boy's delight in the proceedings.

Secretary Baker then introduced Senator Wadsworth of New York, who extended the formal welcome of the senate, and Representative Mondell, majority leader in the house of representatives, who spoke for his associates. Mr. McAdoo spoke the welcome of the city of New York, and Mrs. F. M. Swacker greeted General Pershing in behalf of the governor of Missouri.

his home state. The general responded briefly.

Overwhelmed With Emotion

Gazing proudly upon the soldiers of the First Division, Gen. Pershing declared that the affectionate words of greeting overwhelmed him with emotion. He was happy to be once again an American soldier, he said. Referring to the warmth of his reception, he said: "If this is to continue, I believe that before many days I might wish that the war had not come to an end."

Secretary Baker had been generous in his compliment. Gen. Pershing said, as to his part in the war. He declared, however, that the victory was won only by the united effort of the nation.

Pays Tribute to Doughboys

"The American army at all times felt," he said, "that it had the resolute and unanimous support of the people at home."

He emphasized the achievements of his troops, declaring that their morale never was shaken for a moment.

"All credit," he said, "is due to those brave fellows who faced without flinching and with but little preparation a well drilled army. It is to them, Mr.

Secretary and my friends, to whom we owe the highest tribute for the winning of the war."

Referring tenderly to those who had fallen in battle, Gen. Pershing said:

Honor Those Left Behind

"Those whom we left behind are in the hands of an affectionate and grateful people. Their graves will be visited by Americans who go abroad and from these graves new lessons of patriotism will be learned."

At the close of his remarks, General Pershing turned to Secretary Baker and requested him to convey to President Wilson his sincere thanks for the confidence that had been displayed in him as commander of the American Expeditionary Force. He also thanked Secretary Baker for his confidence and the assistance he had given him at all times.

At the close of the ceremonies at the pier, Gen. Pershing and his party boarded the New York police boat. They were taken to Manhattan. He landed at Pier A, the battery, at 10:30.

General Steps Ashore

As the patrol boat approached lower Broadway there arose a roar of cheers. The battery wall and surrounding area were jammed with shouting men and women.

A band swung into the strains of The Star Spangled Banner as the general stepped ashore. An escort of mounted police formed a guard of honor and the commander entered an automobile with Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of the mayor's committee of welcome, to be escorted to the city hall.

As the cavalcade passed into Broadway, it moved between surging throngs. Tens of thousands clamored their greetings from the great buildings lining the way. Streamers were hurled from building to building and from windows came a storm of confetti. As the cheers rose into a continuous roar, General Pershing rose and saluted and sat down again.

Only a few blocks had been traversed when he stood in the car and remained at salute. Finally, however, he seemed carried away with the enthusiasm of those who were greeting him, and himself waved his cap around his head.

When the commander started up the steps to the aldermanic chamber the cheering rose to an almost deafening thunder. Half way up the broad stone flight, General Pershing turned and stood for a few minutes at salute gazing out over the broad expanse of upturned faces. He entered city hall at 10:45 a. m.

SKETCH OF PERSHING'S CAREER

When Congress confers the permanent title of general upon John J. Pershing, it will be the first time since the Civil War that a general has been promoted to that rank.

Are Prayers Answered?

Read the Interesting Discussion of This Question

THE ORIGINAL LETTER THAT OPENED THE DISCUSSION

To the Editor of the Post:

Sir—I listened to a very interesting controversy the other day in regard to the efficacy of prayer. One man maintained that there never was any direct answer to prayer; that he who prayed talked to a blank stone wall, and that no answer ever came back, save that of echo or retroaction.

The other held that the Great Spirit that presides over the destinies of the universe does, in some way, listen to the individual prayers of his creatures, and that he sometimes answers them, although not perhaps in the form and way prayed for, but for the better benefit of his suppliant.

As to many, even though not professed Christians, an interesting question. The Boston Post must reach a million or more of intelligent people in New England, many of whom are devout Christians, and who embrace people of almost every faith. What has been their experience in the matter of answer to prayer?

It would be extremely interesting if some of them would write to the Boston Post, stating simply what their experience has been.

August 22, 1919.

DOUBTER.

The above suggestion opens up an extremely interesting field of experience, and the editor of the Boston Post will be pleased to receive, from its many readers, brief letters giving their experiences as regards the efficacy of prayer. Kindly address such communications to Prayer Editor, Boston Post. Make them short and as specific as possible. It is not essential that the name of the writer should be printed, although desirable. All communications should be written on only one side of paper.

BELIEVE STRIKE OF POLICE NEAR

Commissioner Curtis Finds
19 Members of Hub Force
Guilty

Convicted of Violating Orders Because of Their
Union Affiliations

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The possibility of a strike of policemen because of social opposition to their union was advanced today with the announcement by Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis that he had found 19 patrolmen, most of them union officers, guilty of violation of department orders because of their union affiliations. The punishment to be imposed, he said, would be published in general orders, probably tonight. Discharge, suspension or reprimand are possible penalties.

Notice that the policemen would declare a strike if any of them were discharged or suspended, was served on Mayor Peters yesterday by labor leaders, but the police union itself as yet has taken no strike action. Meetings were called for this afternoon and tonight, however, to consider what should be done in the light of the announcement of the commissioner this morning, which had been anticipated.

At the head of those found guilty was Patrolman John F. McInnes, president of the union and until recently a captain in the army. The other principal officers of the union also were included. The commissioner and the union leaders had before them today a proposal from Mayor Peters, recommended by his special committee that they settle their differences by having the union abandon relations with the American Federation of Labor; having the commissioner make no discrimination against officers because of their union membership and recommending that the wages and working conditions of the policemen be readjusted. The mayor expressed the opinion that the plan offered a basis for early and satisfactory settlement of the controversy.

To stop the reciprocal "rustling" of cattle that is continually going on across the Mexican border, the Arizona livestock sanitary board proposes the building of an international fence, "horse-high, bull-strong and practically manproof," the whole length of the border.

KNIGHT TEMPLARS GO TO PHILADELPHIA

More than 200 Lowell Knights Templars and their families left Lowell at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the triennial convocation of the order being held at Philadelphia this week. The local Masons traveled on a special N. Y. N. H. & H. train from Lowell to Fall River and took the boat from there to New York city. A crowd of several hundred was at the depot at the time of departure to bid the departing Knights an enthusiastic farewell.

It was previously planned to parade from Masonic Temple to the railroad station, but the excessive heat of the day caused the abandonment of this idea. The Knights wore fatigue uniforms of plain blue with visor caps.

With the arrival in Philadelphia today the visiting delegations from all parts of the country were taken on sight-seeing tours until 3 o'clock when the convocation was officially opened in Independence square. President Woodrow Wilson was expected to be present to deliver the principal address.

STREET RAILWAY MOVES OFFICES

Manager Thomas Lees of the local street railway together with his clerical staff and the operating force of the claim agent's department, took up their new quarters today in the Mather street car house off Middlesex street. The remainder of the office force, which has been for several years in the Grosvenor building in Merrimack square, will move to the car house during the next ten days, with the exception of the transportation superintendent, Ward Leavitt, who will have an office in the Howe building.

The street railway waiting room at the square will also be abolished some time in the next two weeks. In conformity with the plan of the company to cut out waiting rooms in all cities served by the system, Commutation tickets and school tickets will be on sale at the office in the Howe building, company officials said today.

WELCOME JEWISH BOYS

A welcome home reception to the 60 Jewish boys who left the Spindle City to follow the colors will be given by the Jewish people of the community the latter part of this month and at a recent meeting of the Y.M.H.A., which is handling arrangements for the event, the following committee was appointed to take charge of the affair: Max Carp, William Levine, Sigmond Rostler, Harry Gerson and Dr. Harry Ginsberg. The exact date of the celebration, as well as further details concerning it, will be decided upon at a meeting of the Y.M.H.A. to be held this week.

PEACHES FLOODING FRUIT MARKETS

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The temporary sugar shortage, which has played havoc with the canning industry in Massachusetts during the past two or three weeks, is responsible for enormous quantities of fruit going to waste—particularly peaches. In view of this fact the commission on the necessities of life is urging householders throughout the state to take advantage of the situation by buying the peaches which are now flooding the fruit markets, at low prices, for immediate consumption.

The food value of peaches is greater than is generally accredited to them, for although their flavor gives palatability and variety to the diet and aids digestion by stimulating digestive fluids, they are also recognized as an energy-building food. In this respect three medium sized peaches are approximately equal in value to each of the following:

One large egg.
Five-eighths cup of milk.
One medium sized potato.
Two slices of bread.
Three-fourths cup of cooked farina.

Peaches can be prepared in many ways—and while many people are not attempting to can them at present because of the sugar shortage, they fail to realize that fruit can be canned by the cold pack method without the use of sugar. Among the various uses of peaches, for which recipes are prepared, are the following: Baked peaches, steamed peach puddings, peach cobbler, Dutch peach cake, dried peach Betty, peach tapioca, peach jam, peach butter and peach jelly. Any of these recipes will be supplied on request.

ERECT MONUMENT TO SERVICE MEN

If plans are not changed, a monument will soon be erected in St. Joseph's cemetery to the memory of the French-speaking service men of this city, who lost their lives while in the service, the monument to be erected under the auspices of the general committee in charge of the celebration, which was held last Monday.

The celebration last week was successfully carried out through funds raised by social events and public subscriptions. Now it seems that there will be a substantial balance left after all bills have been paid and this money will be utilized in purchasing a monument to the memory of the dead heroes. The date of the unveiling of the monument will be announced later.

INJUNCTION RESUMED HEARING TODAY

The joint hearing on the petitions of the Federal Shoe Co. and the I. H. Spaulding Shoe Co. for an injunction against certain members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union of this city, which started at the local court house last Tuesday was resumed this morning before G. A. A. Pevey of Cambridge, acting as master. The petitioners concluded their case last Friday and this morning testimony was heard from union men. The witnesses today included Organizer E. J. Melancon of Salem, Lieut. Connors of the local police department and Business Agent George W. Racine E. J. Tierney appeared for the petitioners and D. J. Donohue for the respondents. It is expected that the hearing will be brought to a close in two or three days.

MORE SEWER MEN DROPPED SATURDAY

Another big decrease in the number of sewer department employees was ordered by Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy Saturday when 49 men were dropped. There are at the present time about 50 men employed in the department. Commissioner Murphy is awaiting the arrival of $5000 owed the sewer department by the United States Housing corporation which was promised him several weeks ago but which has not yet arrived.

Unless more funds are forthcoming it is believed the commissioner will have to drop more men this week and probably close the entire department. Several weeks ago he was obliged to drop 50 employees of the department temporarily but upon being voted a loan of $5000 by the municipal council, found his way clear to re-employ most of them.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

State Branch Meets at Greenfield—To Favor Organization of Police

GREENFIELD, Sept. 8.—The 34th annual convention of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, which opened here today was expected to adopt resolutions favorable to the organization of policemen and insurance agents. Delegates from Haverhill and other cities where the police have sought union affiliation, were expected to urge that the question be made a state wide political issue.

Delegates favoring the unionization of insurance agents expected considerable opposition. In previous attempts to obtain an American Federation of Labor charter, the agents have been refused on the ground that they were not productive.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday afternoon at the Sacred Heart rectory when Mr. Albert W. Wallace and Miss Ella V. Mone were united in marriage by Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The bride was attired in white georgette with pearl trimmings and wore a veil caught up with ribbons of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Dollie Mone, sister of the bride, wore pink georgette and carried pink roses. Mr. William C. Gill acted as best man. The brides gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, while the groom's favor to the best man was a set of gold cuff links. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride where a musical program was given. A wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were the recipients of many costly and beautiful wedding gifts. After an extended trip to Granby, Canada, they will make their home in this city.

Chase—Wallace
Mr. William L. Chase and Miss Myrtle C. Wallace, both of this city, were united in marriage Saturday, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Asa R. Diers, of the Calvary Baptist church. The best man was Mr. Thomas P. Gallagher, while the bridesmaid was Miss Lillian B. Wotton, both of this city. After refreshments were served the young couple left on an extended wedding tour, leaving the well wishes of a host of friends. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in North Chelmsford.

McKeen—Brennan
Mr. Edward McKeen of New York and Miss Mildred L. Brennan, of this city, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lucy E. Brennan, 82 Georgia avenue by Rev. Earl T. Favre of the Palge Street Baptist church. The matron of honor was Mrs. Elmer G. Brennan, while the best man was Mr. Elmer G. Brennan, brother of the bride. The couple will make their home at 82 Georgia avenue.

GRANTED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

(Special to The Sun.)
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The J. J. Spillane Company of Lowell was granted articles of incorporation by the secretary of state Saturday. It is the purpose of the new corporation to engage in the plumbing business. The incorporators are J. J. Spillane, Katherine F. Murphy and John Devlin, all of Lowell. The capital stock is fixed at $5000, being divided into 200 shares of common at par value of $25. Of it Spillane has subscribed to 130 shares and Devlin and Katherine F. Murphy to five each. Spillane is named as president of the corporation, Katherine Murphy as treasurer and Devlin as clerk. The entire 200 shares of stock will now be issued, $5 being paid for in the form of merchandise, 50 in that of bills receivable and 50 in that of good will.

STEADY IMPROVEMENT IS NOTICED HERE IN THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

The unemployment situation in Lowell is steadily improving, according to Examiner Corbin, of the United States employment bureau. Less than 2500 people are unemployed here at present, says Mr. Corbin, while August 1 fully 3000 were looking for work.

The examiner has positions open for unskilled female help out-of-town, as well as cement masons and laborers, carpenters, wooden spinners and blanket weavers. In the city there are vacancies for carpenters and sheet metal workers, and a few jobs at Camp Devens for ex-service men.

DESTROYS VERMIN ON CHILDREN'S HEADS

YOUR STAGE FAVORITE PLAYING IN A TENT

BY FREDERICK M. KERBY
NEW YORK, September.—"Hamlet" and "Little Eva," the "Follies" and "Gaieties" and "Scandals" and all the rest of them may appear in your town looking like the old-time traveling medicine show, put up their tents, sell tickets out of the regular circus wagon "box office," and move on to the next "stand" taking their canvas "theatre" with them.

The traveling tent show is a possibility if the Managers Protective association refuses indefinitely to recognize the Actors' Equity association.

"If the managers take the attitude that they will not furnish entertainment to the public, then the actors will," said one of the officers of "Equity."

"Our plans for putting out road shows are not yet completed, but the entertainment committee is hard at work and will have a report ready in a few days. The managers will find that a building does not constitute a theatre; people will go to a hall, or a barn, a tent, or even an open field to see good acting, in a good play."

The Equity association is determined to organize the production of plays on a co-operative basis, if managers do not come to terms. The big benefit vaudeville show now running at the Lexington Avenue theatre in New York has not only been a tremendous success financially, but the actors have done something that the public has enormously appreciated—they have eliminated the "ticket speculator." The managers have always professed that they were unable to eliminate this form of graft, but the actors, by refusing to sell except at the box office and to bona fide patrons, have put the "shark" out of business.

Two other co-operative productions have been staged by the actors. The success of these shows will be followed by the organization of road companies.

American officers received that special training evolved in combat with the wily savages which proved of peculiar value in certain phases of the highly scientific modern warfare in France and Belgium.

They were taught the art of scouting, of trailing and of perfect self-reliance in the school beyond the ken of any European soldier and many a midnight raid by the Americans into No Man's Land doubtless found its inception and clever execution in the brain of one of these one-time Indian fighters of Pershing's type.

Complimented by Gen. Miles.
It is recorded officially of Pershing that at the beginning of his career, for instance, he was complimented by General Miles, his commander-in-chief in the Geronimo campaigns, for "marching his troop, with pack train, over rough country, 140 miles in 10 hours, bringing in every animal and man in good condition." Until he reached command rank Pershing always was a cavalry officer and the records of the War department show more than one honorable mention for his conduct during his ten years' service in the Department of Arizona.

In the Spanish war as an officer of the Tenth cavalry he was promoted for gallantry at the battle of El Caney to be a major in the volunteer army and after a short detail in Washington in the Bureau of Insular Affairs was sent out to the Philippines as assistant-general of the Department of Mindanao and Jolo.

Turning Point of Career.
That was the turning point in Pershing's career. He began to take his profession of arms more seriously and to display the powers of concentration upon difficult problems that stood him in good stead in the great campaigns that were to follow in Europe. Attracted by his earnestness and soldierly qualities, General Leonard Wood, who was his superior officer at the time, selected Pershing to organize and conduct a campaign against the Moros who for centuries had successfully resisted all attempts of the Spanish army to subjugate them.

Up to that point something of a parallel may be found in the careers of Wood and Pershing. Each had made brilliant reputations as Indian fighters and each had been picked by President Roosevelt for extraordinary promotion because of their high promise of military ability. Roosevelt had made Wood a brigadier general in 1901 and he made Pershing, then a captain, a brigadier general in 1905 to the absolute consternation of the old line of the army because it involved the "jumping" of both officers over many hundreds of their seniors.

When Pershing was chosen to command the American forces in France, he took with him many of the browned and hardened veterans of his Mexican campaigns and these men formed the nucleus of the famous First division of the American Expeditionary Force.

Terrible Tragedy.
A terrible tragedy had come into Pershing's life during his Mexican border service through the loss of his wife and three of their children who were burned to death in their home at the Presidio, in San Francisco, during his absence.

His life had become hard and stern; not towards his soldiers, however, but in the regiment he imposed upon himself and in the objects he had marked for attainment. He threw himself into his work with a passion that commanded success, evidently seeking relief from his private grief in public service.

Pershing believed in teamwork; he knew that whatever success the Germans had attained was through their united command of the armies of the Central powers. So he was not only willing but anxious to see the same principle adopted by the Entente armies. He sank his private ambitions and freely tendered the services of of the last American soldier and all his army equipment to General Foch at the most critical point in the campaign. There is said to be no doubt that his example affected the other commands and went along way towards bringing about the unification of the Entente armies under Marshal Foch.

It was not until Pershing was certain that the plans he had made with the assistance of his own staff for a successful campaign into Alsace-Lorraine had behind them the support of a sufficient number of American soldiers that Pershing felt justified in taking complete command of an important sector of the line of battle with the full assent of Marshal Foch and with the result that the American army broke the morale of the Germans and brought the war to a

SWIVEL CHAIR CIRCULATION

We noted a full page in a certain Boston paper last week in which attention was called to the fact that it prided itself on being read by more Boston business men than any other paper published in that city. The business men, however, give most of their advertising to the papers which reach the masses of the people on whom they depend for patronage.

The Sun is read by business men but its strong pull as an advertising medium is its wide circulation among all the people rather than any particular class. The home circulation as a rule is that to which the merchant makes his appeal. Why? Because when money earned by the worker starts out again in the process of being spent and put in circulation, it starts from the home and generally in the hand of the woman of the home. The Sun, filled with advertisements of articles the home must have, goes straight to the home as any one of some 20,000 odd families in Lowell and vicinity, are ready to certify. If you want to get your ad as close to the family pocketbook as possible, put it in

COAL POCKET TRAGEDIES

John Rene, residing at 468 Suffolk street, was suffocated last Thursday afternoon, in a coal pocket of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet company. The superintendent, according to a local paper, "regretted sincerely the sore loss by such an accident," as Rene had been a faithful employee of the company for two and a half years. The loss to the company seems to trouble the superintendent more than the death of the victim and the loss to his relatives if he had any. These fatal accidents to men employed in putting out fires in coal pockets are getting far too common. There have been many similar accidents in which men called upon to transfer coal from one pocket to another or to dig the fire out of a burning coal pile lost their lives. It is a job so hazardous that it is almost criminal to ask any man to do it unless he is duly protected against the coal slides that result from the consumption by fire underneath or due to the top of the pile being undermined by removal of the coal lower down. In one case a man trying to remove coal that had been on fire dropped into a cavity from which the coal had been burned to ashes and his death was duly reported, just as if it had been an accident due in whole or in part to his own carelessness or lack of judgment.

The man who has his head down shoveling the coal is not the one who can tell whether there is danger. The foreman or superintendent who directs the work, should guard the lives of the men, and if he fails in this, either he or the company he represents should be held criminally liable. It is very difficult to keep bituminous coal exposed to the air without taking fire from spontaneous combustion. The fire may be burning for weeks before detection and may have consumed tons of coal in the lower stratum of the pile, so that a man set to work on top of the mass, is liable to sink into the fire underneath the surface with fatal results. Or, if a man be set to work to remove the coal from any part of the pile, over or near the fire, the fine coal higher up under the force of gravity may slide into the depression thus formed and bury him beyond hope of rescue.

It is high time the Industrial Accident board looked into this class of accidents and provided the necessary protection for workmen. In our opinion that corporation that sets a man to work on such a job without properly guarding his life, bears a great responsibility. No doubt the result of an inquiry under the ordinary process of law, would find the corporation in such a case "not criminally liable on account of negligence," but at such a job the laborer should work only behind a barricade that would save him in case of a slide, and he should stand on a board large enough to protect him from sinking into a scorching furnace. It is time to stop sacrifice of human life resulting from ordering men to work on a burning coal pile without any protection whatsoever.

DEPORT THEM

The National Socialist party at its convention at Chicago came out squarely in favor of soviet or bolshevik government such as they have in Russia. The delegates state that the delegates jumped to their feet and cheered for several minutes when the paragraph was read approving the soviet republic of Russia. Delegates were soviet buttons sent by a local branch of the Russian socialist federation. Another offshoot was organized to be known as the communist party, patterned after the Russian soviet system and composed entirely of wage earners. Rose Pastor Stokes announced that she would join the communist party. Of course she will. She appears ready to join anything that savors of revolution or anarchy. The resolutions appealed to the workers of the United States "to do all in their power to restore and maintain their civil rights to the end that the transition from capitalism to socialism may be effected without resorting to the drastic measures made necessary by the autocratic despotism."

The socialists are working to overthrow what they call "capitalism" which means the government of the United States. What is their method? Simply to keep on asking higher wages and higher and enforcing the demands by a strike until capital must yield and turn over the factories, the banks, and all the institutions of government to the socialists. Then the constitution is to be wiped out and the socialistic ideals now in force in Russia are to be established here. That is the meaning of socialism as it exists in this country today. The Russian method is to be substituted for the freest and best constitution ever framed by the mind of man. Every man supposed to own any property must deliver it up or be killed. He may be killed anyhow as a menace to the new regime same as the bourgeoisie are slaughtered in cold blood in Russia even after being robbed of their worldly possessions. Glorious isn't it? But the socialist convention has shown to the American public just what socialism as it exists today means to this and every other free country. It is a menace that must be met in the proper way and with a firm hand. If these people are so enamored with the soviet government of Russia let them go to Russia and enjoy its benefits, but they cannot introduce it here. Every town and every city in the United States has a duty to perform in shutting off the spouters of this organization who get up in the public parks, the streets and the byways to preach their anarchistic doctrines. They have planned extensive propaganda work. That doubtless includes the distribution of handbills, in public assemblies. This should be outlawed inasmuch as it furnishes the means by which the organization is recruited with new members throughout the country.

Labor unions will have to exercise great care not to be influenced in their action by the socialistic element in their ranks. That is where the socialists try to make recruits by preaching their revolutionary doctrines. Samuel Gompers deserves more credit perhaps for his firm stand against socialism than for any other single policy for which he has stood for many years. Radical he may have been of some points but upon the socialistic issue he was sound as a rock and this very fact explains in a great degree the secret of his power as a labor leader. He has never adopted revolutionary methods and he denounces at what he considers unfair or unjust even when advocated by lawed inasmuch as it furnishes the and conservative leader.

SUGAR FAMINE

There is something wrong in the distribution of sugar. Last week we are credibly informed, the only shipment of sugar of any importance to this city was 25 barrels of a ginger ale concern. Many of the leading stores were without a supply to meet the urgent demands of their patrons with the result that even little children and the sick had to go without this essential article of diet.

If the food administration has not entirely ceased to function, it should look into this matter and see to it that there is a more equal distribution of sugar.

The American Sugar Refining Co. apparently owes an explanation to the public in reference to this very serious state of affairs.

We are trying to reduce the large infant mortality here, but the lack of sugar for infants is likely to increase it. Hence the necessity of immediate action on the question of having the local stores supplied.

Possibly the supply is limited at home in order that large shipments may be sent abroad; but why permit our own people to suffer in order to relieve those of European nations?

That large store of sugar hoarded in Charlestown for shipment abroad should have been put on the market for home consumption.

Somebody is to blame for the sugar famine in Lowell at the present time.

Evidently it is time for the food administration to act.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Today the schools reopen and boys and girls are joyously flocking back to greet their teachers, not crawling like snails as described by Shakespeare in the olden times.

Today the schools are made to fit the children rather than the reverse. As for the public school teachers, they are not a very happy class of employees. They find that their salaries have shrunk in value almost 50 per cent, so that the recent increase granted does not square things for them. But they are patient and will do their work well regardless of this discrepancy.

Today the pupils have opportunities for learning the fundamental principles of trades in manual training, sewing and other domestic arts. The parents do not quite appreciate what is being done for their children, but they should show their interest in the work and cooperate most cordially with the teachers as it is only thus the best results may be obtained.

The government aroused considerable interest hereabouts when it announced an auction sale of used automobiles at Camp Devens, when in their fancy many people saw an opportunity to purchase a sumptuous passenger vehicle for a song or two. But the bubble is broken. No real touring cars will be sold—just sixty-odd machines, not able to proceed under their own power in their present condition.

Nobody as yet has given us a clear explanation of the reaction of the wholesale market upon retail prices. The moment a commodity is quoted in wholesale bulk at a higher figure, the retail price jumps up over night, but when the bottom drops out of the pork and corn market, no recession is noted in retail charges. The profiteer is unwilling to relinquish his hold on a good thing.

Officers who served in the army during the emergency of war and now discharged are receiving letters requesting their co-operation in the districts in which they live in a campaign for the establishment of universal military training for young men. The organization back of the movement has for its slogan, "Let us not again be caught unprepared."

We eagerly read that when the rotund Mr. Caruso stepped down the gang-plank at New York he wore a blue Norfolk suit, gray, double-breasted vest, tan oxfords, and a green velvet hat with the brim turned up on the left side. Sure it was the left? And, like all other famous songsters, he had a most disagreeable cold. So sorry!

Cheer up folks, Herbert Hoover will sail for home this month. That he may have an opportunity to try his luck at regulating prices and have his efforts crowned with the same success which marked his "substitution" campaign, is the fervent wish of thousands.

If the salaried man works hard enough he may be promoted to a position which pays wages, but it will be a long, hard pull and fraught with harrowing experiences of poverty and want before the goal is reached.

SEEN AND HEARD

Welcome home.

To temporarily fill a position of authority and have those with whom you deal give their best efforts and complete co-operation is a very happy experience and certainly makes life worth living.

We heard the other day of a barber who asserts that he is just about the speediest guy that ever happened. This bird says he gave a man a shave, haircut, slugs, shampoo and tonic in 5 minutes and 43 seconds. No, he doesn't live in Lowell.

We know one man who can beat the high cost of living. He got married a few weeks ago and after the marriage service was performed, asked the preacher if he had a blank check. The preacher had. The bridegroom filled it out and then left with his bride, calling the parson on the phone ten minutes later to ask that the check be held up because it was made on the wrong bank. The preacher hasn't heard of him since.

Evidence All in Etc.

"I should say he has! Why he has enough cases in his cellar to keep him busy the rest of his life."

Up to Jury

"Guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge.

"Why should I tell you?" replied the prisoner, "when you've got a jury to find out."

Freak dancing is on its last leg. 300 dance engineers in convention give the thumbs north sign on trick dances. Gonna coax the old waltz and two-step back on the waxed oak. Figure now that the reconstruction period is on, we ought to unwind back to the old model hop. Many claim that the large had a foot in starting the war. And a lot argue now that peace is a flat tire since the war left it tangled up in jazz shimmy steps. Another feature the dance experts figure on adding to the launching of the new old dances is that ladies will shuffle in forward gear half the dance instead of being pushed backwards all through a hop. With the present dances, couples push the floor all over themselves. May I have the pleasure of this waltz? Tum-tum-ta-tum-tum.

The Fanning of the Chestnut Tree

(Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.)
(With Apologies to Henry W. Longfellow.)

The smith, a wealthy man is he;
He runs the town garage;
As for the spreading chestnut tree,
'Tis now but camouflage.

Mayhap upon a painted post,
It symbolizes a sign;
A man and weather-beaten ghost
Of smudgy green design.

No more the nimble, buff-tailed beast
Shall make his rendezvous
And garner from its store a feast
To last the winter through.

No more the nut-hatch seeks its prey
Adown the sunny bole
No more upon an outer spray
Shall nest the oriole.

No more the village lads carouse
The morning after frost;
No more against its suffering boughs
The urelin clubs are tossed.

No more in early winter-time
Shall stand behind the steam
The man who sells us for a dime
Our happy boyhood's dream.

No more the sputter as we reel
The aged and infirm;
No more our mother-meet
Upon the roasted worm.

Pass on! pass on, O chestnut-tree!
You'll make a splendid sign;
Yet know your memory shall be
Forevermore preserved.

Though dead, yet shall you live and thrive
Beyond the bounds of Time,
For long we scribbles shall keep alive
The product of your prime!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Did you ever notice in your rambles throughout the downtown section how many pedestrians—of both sexes—make use of shop windows to get a mirrored glimpse of their personal appearance, rather than to study the offerings of the merchants? The other day I stationed myself, more for curiosity than anything else, in front of a store window not far from Merrimack square which gives an unusually clear reflection. I was surprised to find that of the first fifty passers-by, forty used the windows as a mirror. The following Sunday, when Lowell folks come out in their best apparel as a rule, only one of the first fifty pedestrians failed to give himself or herself the "once over" and many of the others made use of window mirrors to rearrange their hair or personal apparel.

The end seat hog on the electric car is a nuisance, but there is also another pest and that is the man who in a closed car stands right in the doorway on the rear platform and refuses to move to allow passengers to board or alight from the car. I saw one of them served a la Everett True last week on a Moody street car on its way to Merrimack square, and much to the satisfaction of the passengers. A man along in the 50's, short but stout, boarded the car at Cabot street and stood in the doorway, blocking the passageway. At Dutton street a male passenger attempted to alight from the car, but the stout man was blocking the doorway and he refused to move. There was no coaxing at all on the part of the man who wanted to get out, and who by the way was also of pretty good build, for he simply brushed against the obstructor and almost threw him off the car, at the same time giving him a squeeze that he will long remember. "What are you trying to do?" remarked the stout man, "throw me off?" "That is exactly what you would deserve," replied the other party. Just then the car was started again and the conductor politely informed the stout passenger that he should take a seat inside and not block the doorway while passengers are entering or leaving the car.

Relatives and friends of Lowell soldiers who are still in the service will be heartened by information received a day or two ago from the war department by Sgt. A. C. McLeod, the officer in charge of the local army recruiting station at 117 Merrimack st. The communication says that all men who were enlisted or drafted into the army for the war period who are physically eligible for discharge will be released from the service not later than Sept. 30. There are still a number of Lowell men in uniform who are anxious to get back to civilian status, but who for one reason or another have had to remain in the service long after the end of the war. Unless a man cannot be replaced by another soldier or if he is not in confinement for some misdemeanor, he will receive his discharge by the end of the month whether he is serving in this country or abroad. Of course, this does not apply to the men who enlisted in the army for the full four-year term. The recruiting campaign which has been waged for the past several months has resulted in a large number of new men coming into the service to take the place of those who served during the war and the war department seems to feel that it is time to give the veterans a rest. And many a Lowell mother and father will heartily second the motion.

GERMANS KILL U. S. SOLDIER

Hun Patrol Fires On American Guards in Neutral Zone

Munitions Recently Sold by Americans to German Firms Explode

COBLENZ, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Private Reass Madsen of Sacramento, Calif., was shot and instantly killed yesterday by German soldiers in the neutral zone within about a mile of the boundary of Coblenz bridgehead.

Madsen and Private Bert Balsinger of the Eighth Infantry, who had been on outpost duty, were deer hunting when they encountered a German patrol of 13 soldiers. According to Balsinger, the Germans began firing without asking an explanation as to why two Americans were in the neutral zone. Balsinger told the American authorities that when he and Madsen encountered the Germans he was several yards ahead of Madsen.

Balsinger said he dropped his rifle as soon as he saw the Germans, who second afterwards began to shoot at Madsen. The Germans contended that Madsen fired at them. Balsinger declared that the Germans fired first and that if Madsen fired he did not see him shoot or hear the shot.

Balsinger was taken prisoner by the Germans and later turned over to the American provost marshal, Major Geo. Cockrell, and brought to Coblenz. Madsen will be buried in the American cemetery at Coblenz.

Explosions Near Coblenz

COBLENZ, Sept. 8.—Property valued at approximately 10,000,000 marks, sold recently by the Americans to the Germans, was destroyed Saturday by a series of explosions in ammunition dumps near Neuwied. Among the material destroyed was ammunition worth 3,000,000 marks, which was sold Friday to a German company for commercial purposes.

Fire followed the first explosion and destroyed some 50 buildings scattered about a 40-acre tract, used for years by the Germans and then by the Americans for storing shells of various calibers. Thousands of large shells and millions of rounds of small arm ammunition which were abandoned by the German army were exploded, but there were no American casualties.

Six German girls employed in a dump were rendered unconscious by the first explosion. They were rescued by American soldiers.

The work of breaking up the shells was being done by Germans under American supervision. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Charles Grapewin and Anna Chance, two of the foremost farceurs on the American stage, will be the headliners on the bill which opens in ninth anniversary week at the B. F. Keith theatre, today, in September, 1919. The piece is "The Great Escape," which is in order to commemorate this auspicious opening that Manager Pickering has assembled an unusually attractive gathering of players, with, as aforesaid, Mr. Grapewin and Miss Chance in the position of most importance.

Grapewin in his latest sketch, called "Jed's Vacation," portrays another episode in the lives of the Harveys. Lowell saw the first sketch—now played by Mr. Grapewin—however—a year ago, and it was called "Poughkeepsie." The Harveys are a traveling salesman and his wife, and in the opening sketch there were shown the husband always away from home except for brief moments, and the wife always at home. In "Jed's Vacation," the husband comes home from the road for a vacation, his first in many months. The audience will tell just how successful the vacation is for "Jed" as well as for friend, wife.

When it comes to acting farce it would be difficult indeed to find a man anywhere on the naive stage who knows more about it than does Mr. Grapewin. And he not only knows how to act it, but he knows how to write it. His latest is considered everywhere as a real, high-powered, laughing vehicle. Before "Poughkeepsie" he gave the stage "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp" and "It's Up to You, John Henry." Grapewin's comedy is never forced. It is apparently spontaneous, and it is bright and clever and never unconvincing. Miss Chance is a most capable assistant, in fact she is almost as much of the act as is Grapewin himself.

Val and Ernie Stanton, who bill themselves as "English Boys from America," are right jolly comedians. They are not unknown on the local stage, having given their noted "Zingina" act on at least one occasion. They cheerfully admit that they have never owned a diamond, have never claimed any position on the bill stuff, contrary to the orders of the stage manager. Outside of that they have nothing to state. The rest of their talking is done on the stage, and it is funny every minute of it. They cram a lot of nonsense into a brief period, and nothing is more refreshing than their laughter.

A pretty, high-class vaudeville act, one fit to rank with the very best on the variety stage, is "Horses," in which the pair, Sylvester and Val Vance, appear. It is called a satirical comedy with songs. Inasmuch as Mr. Sylvester is a very good light comedian, and Miss Vance is pretty to gaze upon, and an admirable comedienne, this act ought to measure up to the standards of the most critical.

Jim, the Jazz King, is a bear. That's right. He is big, seven-foot black fellow, weighing 300 pounds and he's the champion shimmy performer in the animal kingdom. Jim does a lot of things better than the rest of the bunch. He is a roller skater, a wrestler, and he drills like a soldier. In the dancing line he does a Spanish fandango, and he does a lot of things better than the rest of the bunch. He is a very good comedian. Were he only aware just what laughter he creates through his antics he would ere this have claimed a raise in pay.

Walsh and Edwards are a pair of youthful entertainers who have grace and charm in their singing and dancing and brightness in their comedy. The male member of the pair is uncommonly good at the comedy, while Miss Edwards fits into the scheme of things better than the rest of the bunch.

Black and White are girls who do a variation on the acrobatic act. The scene opens with the pair just arising from behind a curtain, and they begin the benefits to be derived from physical culture, and then, right off the reel, spring from the bed, which is a trampoline base, and commence their gymnastic feats. It's a most novel opening for an act.

El Cota, who is called the master of things better than the rest of the bunch, is said to be the superior of all other xylophonists. That's the highest possible praise, but everywhere he is said to demonstrate that he is live up to the statement.

The Keith News Weekly Topics of the Day and a Bruce scenic picture will comprise the remainder of this big bill.

THE STRAND
Pauline Frederick in "The Peace of Roaring River" is one of the newest Golden Age pictures and is shown at The Strand for the first three days this week. It presents the star in a role where no feminine aids to beauty add to the sympathetic which her tribulations arouse. The exquisite gown which Miss Frederick wears with such perfection and grace that they seem a part of her, are absent. The beautiful, the longing people of the Strand. See it and be amazed at the perfection of the costume.

"The Road Called Stralbert" is the very latest picture in which Louisa Benson appears. It's a distinct departure from the usual stories in which she appears. In that for the first time in her screen history this typical son of the west is transplanted from his range in the Rockies to the environments of an eastern metropolis. You'll like him better than ever in his new role. The rest of the program will include the usual comedy and weekly.

"Don't forget the penny cental," and be sure and check yourself up for The Strand Fashion Revue which comes the week of September 22. Another reminder—Douglas Fairbanks in "His Majesty," The American, Oct. 12.

LAMSON CO. EVENS UP
K. OF C. SERIES

Daring base running by Herb White, which pulled the K. of C. infield off its toes and brought out two hurried throws which were turned into errors let the Lamson Co. baseball team defeat the Knights at Spalding park Saturday afternoon in the second series game by the score of 2 to 1. A big crowd saw the contest.

Nine sprinters are named for the senior dashes, five of whom have run the 100 in 9.4-5.5 and four of them have beaten even time for the furlong.

These two events will bring together Jo Loomis, Chicago; Charlie Paddock, Southern California; Henry Williams, Spokane; H. Kirksey, San Francisco; Billy Hayes, Boston; J. Hayes, Illinois; A. C. Loren, Burlington, J. R. Patterson and Peter White, representing New York clubs.

In the quarter-mile Frank Shea of Pittsburgh, who is said to be in fine form again, will be opposed by Jim Sprick, Chicago; Earl Eby and Al Spink, Chicago; Larry Scudder, New York; and possibly Jola Ray, Chicago, who last week ran a half-mile in 1m. 55.3-5.5.

In the mile run Ray, indoor record holder for the distance, will meet Jimmy Connolly, Boston; Eddie Ball, Chicago; Joe Stout, Inter-Allied 1500-meter champion, and Mike Devannev, J. Simmons and Bobby Crawford of New York. These men will make up a great field and the winner ought to come near to making a new record, providing the track and weather are favorable.

All of the best hurdlers in the country, including Simpson, Thompson, Kelly, Ames, Riebel and Frank Loomis, will meet in high and low events, and keen contests should result.

Charles Pores, present five-mile champion, will defend his title against Max Bohland, Hannes Kolehmainen and Paddy Flynn, all of New York, and Floyd Payne of Portland, Ore., who has never been beaten in a five-mile race.

Pat McDonald, Matt McGrath and Paddy Ryan will be seen in the weight events and in all the other field contests the entrants are a classy lot.

Floyd Foss will try to beat his recent world's record of 13 ft. 3 1/2 in. in the pole vault, in which Carl Buck of Chicago will defend his honors won last year.

NOTES OF THE GAME

The cheering sections were about evenly proportioned and interest ran high throughout the nine innings.

Umpire McTeague showed a distinct lack of courage on two occasions. In the third Mike Haggerty was hit by a pitched ball and waved down to first, but when the Lamson team kicked at the decision, McTeague obligingly changed it and sent Haggerty back to the plate.

His greatest exhibition of a wavering spine, however, came in the eighth. Pete Condon, after having three strikes called on him, hurled his bat at the umpire with considerable force. An antelope leap saved him from bodily injury and he let the matter pass without even a reprimand. Condon should have been rushed out of the game minus any ceremonies of farewell.

For a man who has played league ball, Condon showed all the earmarks of the rankest sand-bagger. If you don't like the umpire's decision hit him over the head with a bat—sure, that's the way to make him call 'em right.

The peculiar part of the javelin-throwing contest was that the strike Condon kicked over broke squarely over the head of the plate. He was sore because he fanned without taking even one cut at the ball in five pitches.

Arthur Lynch made a beautiful running catch of Walter Foye's drive to deep right-center in the fifth.

For the first time within memory, Jimmy Liston played in the role of an outfielder. He had a little hard luck on his first chance, too, when he lost McPherson's lift in the sun in the first inning and the ball dropped safe at his feet.

Lamson had seven men stranded in the first four innings, but could not get a run, so effectively did Devlin work when a score threatened.

One or two Lamson Co. rooters pulled some low talk in the grandstand and it was not an atmosphere of the most congenial sort.

A record crowd will be out for the third and deciding game.

10 Mile Road Race

Billy Salmon, veteran marathoner, Saturday disproved the old adage, "Youth will be served," when with a time allowance of seven minutes he won the 10-mile road race through the streets of Centralville in 1 hour, 2 minutes and 30 seconds. County, scratch man, was second and was followed across the finish line by Goddard Nett, Wells and Roddy in the order had a time allowance of one minute and Salmon, Roddy and Nett an allowance of seven minutes. Costo, after striding along in good style during the first half of the journey seemed content to stay in second place. The course ran over Hildreth, Boynton, Bridge and Hampshire streets.

The race officials were George Carvey, John L. Boughton, J. Mullin, F. Davis, D. Brassell, T. Crowe and F. Fraway.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Unity A. C. says it did not present its regular team against the St. Peter's S.S. last Saturday and that it was only a picked-up nine at best which lost the decision. The regular Unity A. C. team is ready to play St. Peter's for a purse on any grounds except the South common.

The Universal "Thirds" defeated the Young Maids A. C. on the North common Saturday afternoon.

The St. Peter's S.S. claim the 15 to 16-year-old championship of the city and any manager wishing to dispute it may see Manager O'Grady on the South common any evening.

TOBACCO HABIT DANGEROUS

Says Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital. Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health today were it not for the deadly drug nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed and let the pernicious habit quickly vanish. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Connor soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning and how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result. A. W. Dows and Routhier & DeBile—Adv.

Two Negroes Lynched by Mob

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 8.—Two negroes charged with murder were taken from the city jail here shortly after midnight and lynched. A mob of fifty men stormed the jail in search of a negro who was being held for assaulting a little white girl but who had been secretly sent to St. Augustine by court officers early last night after threats of violence. Finding their intended victim gone the crowd seized the two negroes charged with the murder recently of George Dubos, a white man, took them to the outskirts of the city in automobiles and shot them to death. They then placed ropes about the necks and dragged the bodies through the city streets. One body was dropped in front of a hotel.

Gen. Liggett Goes to Border

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 8.—Lieut. General Hunter Liggett, commander of the western department of the United States army, arrived here today from San Francisco, and left for what he termed a "tour of inspection" to the Mexican border. He said the trip had no significance in connection with conditions in Mexico.

More Japanese Troops for Siberia

CAMELS supply in a lavish way everything you ever hoped to find in cigarettes!

Camels are so unique in quality, in flavor, in full-bodied-mildness, in refreshing satisfaction that you should not delay your pleasure an instant!

Camel CIGARETTES

Quality alone would make Camels distinctive. But, behind quality is Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos. This blend is a revelation to cigarette smokers! You'll prefer it to either kind of tobacco smoked straight, it is so mellow, so delightful.

Prove conclusively that Camels are made to meet your most exacting demands; that you can smoke them liberally without tiring your taste!

And, know yourself that Camels leave no unpleasant cigarettey aftertaste or unpleasant cigarettey odor!

Try Camels out to the limit—then compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Quality will make you keen for Camels!

18 cents a package

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

Lakefield's Community Building, and School, the Movie Auditorium below.

SCHOOLHOUSE BY DAY IS MOVIE SHOW AT NIGHT

N.E.A. Special to The Lowell Sun.
JACKSON, Minn.—Don't build school buildings. Build community and school buildings.

So say the people of Lakefield, who have tried it. A $50,000 combination community building and high school, with an auditorium seating 1000 where "municipal movies" are shown at cost prices, is the achievement of this village of 1600. Residents assert that it is the best investment they ever made.

A fireproof structure 56 by 60 feet, costing $50,000, with an auditorium sufficient to take care of all civic gatherings and a finely equipped community gymnasium was completed recently and now is the most popular spot in town.

With members of the school board acting as movie managers, people of Lakefield and the surrounding country see the best of films at a cost of 10 or 15 cents. The municipal theatre plays to packed houses.

During the school year a short patriotic program and one-act plays are put on before the pictures, with school children as the actors. Farm and civic club meetings, winter lyceums, summer chautauques, band concerts and other entertainments also take place in the building, some of them yielding considerable revenue to the public treasury.

The gymnasium may be used by citizens as well as by pupils of the high school.

PLAN RESTORATION OF PALESTINE

Another lively meeting to make preparations for the welcome home reception to be tendered South End service men next month was held yesterday afternoon in the basement of St. Peter's parochial school. Chairman Daniel Cosgrove presided. Various committees made encouraging reports and plans were made to enlist the services of the women of that section of the city in the project. A meeting having this purpose in view will be called at an early date in the Sacred Heart school hall. The business men and club members who are behind the proposed reception will meet again Thursday evening in St. Peter's school hall.

NOTED LAWYER DEAD

James W. Osborne, Former District Attorney of New York, Found Dead in Bed

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. James W. Osborne, former assistant district attorney of New York and widely known as a criminal lawyer, was found dead in bed in his apartment at a hotel here yesterday. The body was discovered by his son when he returned to the hotel after spending Saturday night with relatives. The cause of Mr. Osborne's death was given as angina pectoris.

Mr. Osborne had remained in his apartment alone Saturday night, Mrs. Osborne having gone to visit her father. He had spent Saturday afternoon playing tennis and, after returning to the hotel late in the evening, ate a hearty meal. This, physicians said, probably caused acute indigestion which brought on angina pectoris.

Mr. Osborne, who was 61 years old, was born in Charlotte, N. C. He came to New York when he was 25 years old and five years later entered the district attorney's office. He served under successive district attorneys for 14 years, later entering private practice.

During his term as an assistant district attorney, Mr. Osborne gained wide fame by his successful prosecution of Albert T. Patrick, murderer of the aged millionaire, William Marsh Rice. Mr. Osborne also prosecuted Roland R. Mollieux, son of Gen. Louis Mollieux, also charged with the murder of Mrs. Katherine B. Adams here in 1922.

Four years ago Mr. Osborne figured in the "Oliver Osborne" case which gained nation-wide publicity. Miss Kate Tanzer of New York sued him for $60,000 for breach of promise, alleging he was the "Oliver Osborne" who, she said, proposed to her within an hour after they had met and who had taken her to a hotel in Plainfield, N. J., where she registered as his wife.

Charles H. Wax, later arrested in Chicago, and brought here, admitted that he was "Oliver Osborne" and was identified as "Oliver" by a number of witnesses as a man who had called at Miss Tanzer's home.

As the result of the breach of promise case, a number of persons, including two sisters of Miss Tanzer, two attorneys, a private detective, a hotel clerk and Miss Tanzer were indicted. The jury in the case of Miss Tanzer disagreed, while Franklin D. Safford, the hotel clerk, who had identified Mr. Osborne as "Oliver Osborne" the man who had taken Miss Tanzer to the Plainfield hotel, was convicted of perjury.

WALSH WANTS RESERVATION

Mass. Senator to Oppose Ratification of Treaty in Present Form

Believes Several Features of Text Are Against True Americanism

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Senator Walsh is no longer counted among the doubtful men on extreme reservation which shall become a part of the treaty. He is now clearly placed in the anti-ratification ranks unless amendment or reservation is made a part of the treaty in such a manner that the terms are unmistakable. The senator has not as yet made a formal statement regarding his position, but has permitted it to become known that he does not favor a wholesale ratification as the text now stands. It has been known all along that he was strongly sympathetic with the position of Ireland in demanding recognition, but it is now understood that his objections to the treaty are not entirely based on the Irish question; but that he believes other features of the treaty are against true Americanism and that the nation will be endangered if the treaty is adopted without important changes. Senator Walsh has thus far been a staunch supporter of administration measures, and makes it very evident that he now departs from the course laid out by the president, although he feels convinced that a parting of the ways is now inevitable, so far as the treaty is concerned. It is understood that Senator Walsh will state his position within the next few days, and will address the senate soon after the treaty is reported out by the foreign relations committee.

RICHARDS.

MUNICIPAL OUTDOOR MOVIES

There will be no more individual outdoor movies this summer, according to Supt. John W. Kernan, of the park department, unless a special request for them is received. The movies have been very successful this year and have attracted large gatherings on the North and South commons every week. The new bath house at the municipal swimming pool, off the Pawtucket boulevard has been practically completed and dedicatory exercises will probably be held next week.

School Days

of the elementary schools of the city is 10,000. The high school registration has in the past reached 1600 or 1700. Both these figures will undoubtedly be materially increased when registration figures are available.

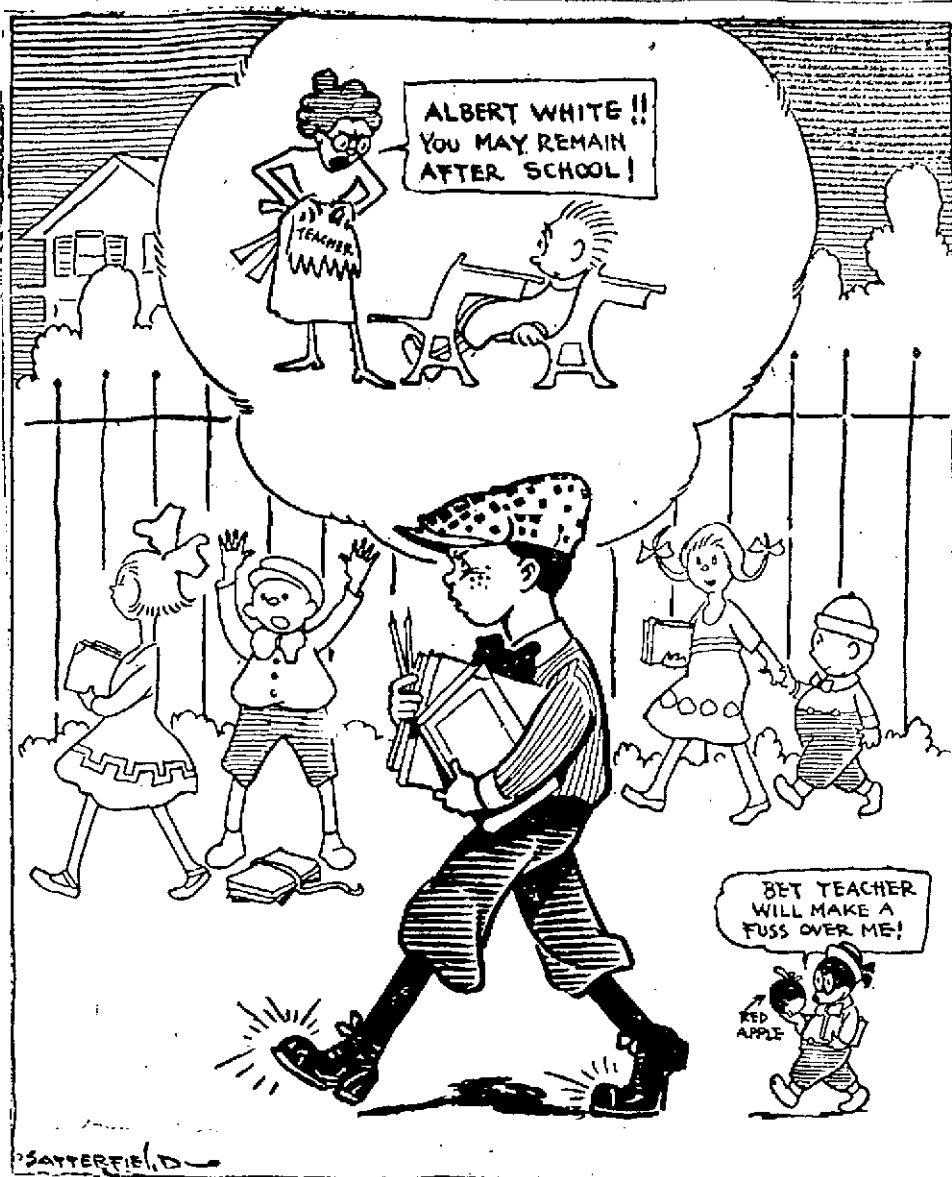

Herbert D. Bixby, headmaster of the high school, reported this morning that the fall term of the school had gotten under way without confusion and he anticipated a big increase in the attendance figures when they become available. All the buildings which were used by the school last year, including the main building in Kirk St., the main annex in Page St., the "coop" and part of the Kirk street primary school, are all to be used again this year. There have been a few changes in the faculty as announced from time to time during the summer months.

The vocational school, both boys and girls' departments, opened this morning as per schedule with Principal Thos. F. Fisher at the helm. Registration for this school had been going on all last week and there was a large attendance at the opening session. This will be increased during the present week as registration will continue every day.

The first practical utilization of portable schools in this city to any considerable degree accompanied the opening of the public schools this morning. At the Washington grammar school three portable buildings which had been erected during the summer months were brought into play and three classes given lodging therein. Another portable school was opened at the Morey school grounds and a second will be completed here in a short time, according to Commissioner George B. Marchand. Commissioner Marchand also plans to open a portable building in the yard of the Vacuum school at a later date to be used for manual training purposes.

The school sessions will be held at the same hours as last year, in most instances from 8.30 to 11.30 for the morning session and 1.45 to 3.45 for the afternoon session. However, there are variations of this schedule in a number of the schools and for that reason the following table given out by Supt. Molloy will be of interest:

High School—8.25 a. m. to 1.25 p. m.
Elementary Schools—8.30 a. m. to 11.30 a. m. and 1.45 p. m. to 3.45 p. m.
Middlesex Village—9 a. m. to 12 m. and 1.30 p. m. to 3.30 p. m.
New Moody Street—8.45 a. m. to 11.45 a. m. and 1.15 p. m. to 3.45 p. m.
Lexington Avenue—8.45 a. m. to 11.45 a. m. and 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.
Vocational School, Boys—8.30 a. m. to 12 m. and 12.30 p. m. to 3.30 p. m.
Vocational School, Girls—8.30 a. m. to 12.30 p. m. and 1 p. m. to 3.30 p. m.
Evening High School—7 to 9.
Evening Vocational Schools—7.15 to 9.15.
Evening Elementary Schools—7 to 9.

"TO SCHOOL, TO SCHOOL, TO FOLLOW THE RULE"

The no school signal will be rung in stormy weather one hour before the time set for the opening of the session. That is, 7.30 in the morning and 12.45 in the afternoon.

The parochial schools of the city also opened today and without exception there were increased attendances noted, the reason being the same that held good in the case of the public schools—the closing of many avenues of employment to children of school age.

In practically every parish a mass celebrated at 8 o'clock preceded the opening of the parish school this morning. The masses were attended by the pupils as well as by a large number of their relatives and friends.

St. Patrick's academy opened this morning with members of the Naverin order at the helm once more and Rev. Brother Niles again took up his duties as superior. A mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church by Rev. Joseph Curtin.

St. Peter's parochial school in Gorham street also opened this morning and the opening was preceded by a mass at 8 o'clock celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Keilher, Fr. D. About 900 children were registered. The sisters of charity conduct St. Peter's school.

The Sacred Heart school in Moore street also reported an increased attendance at the opening of the fall term this morning. Pupils of the school and many other members of the parish attended the mass preceding the opening which was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., the pastor. The sisters of St. Mary are again in charge of this school.

The Immaculate Conception school opened with a normal attendance this morning and the Grey Nuns are once more in charge. Rev. P. J. Phalen, O. M. I., celebrated the mass at 8 o'clock which preceded the school opening. Rev. James P. Lynch was the celebrant of the mass at 8 o'clock which preceded St. Michael's school opening. Sister Mary William and other members of the Dominican order are again in charge of St. Michael's and an increased attendance was reported.

The various French parochial schools of this city, including Notre Dame de Lourdes school in Middlesex street, St. Joseph's parochial school in Aiken street, St. Joseph's school for girls in Moody street and the kindergartens of St. Joseph in Cheever street and Fourth avenue, all opened this morning under the supervision of the Grey Nuns. Appropriate services preceded the opening.

St. Louis parochial school in Bolsovert street and St. Marie's school in Woburn street also opened this morning.

NOTICE

Owing to the demand for copies of The Sun of August 30, containing the address on the Irish cause by Rev. Dr. James Gratlan Mythen, we have printed a few hundred extra copies which are on sale at The Sun office at one cent a copy.

St. Stanislaw's parochial school in High street for Polish children opened this morning with Sister Amata of the Felician sisters in charge.

Supt. Molloy issued the 1919-20 school calendar today and the dates for various recess periods, etc., are in the main similar to those of previous years. The teachers will hold their first meeting of the school year Wednesday afternoon. The usual Columbus day and Thanksgiving holidays will be observed and the first vacation period will be from Nov. 25 to Dec. 5.

The Christmas vacation will begin Dec. 22 and will continue until Dec. 29. The schools will again close Feb. 20 and not re-open until March 1. The spring vacation will begin April 28 and continue until May 3. The schools will close June 22.

There are still a number of Lowell's schools to open. The State Normal school will open Wednesday morning as will Notre Dame academy. Both institutions anticipate increased registration this year.

The day classes of the Lowell Textile school will not begin until Monday, Sept. 22, and the evening classes Monday, Oct. 6. The evening schools of the city will open the week of Oct. 6. Rogers Hall school will be the last to open for day sessions, the first session to be held Oct. 2.

LOWELL "NEWSIES" HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Fully 100 Lowell newsboys were in their glory yesterday when they enjoyed their annual outing at Nabnasset pond due to their being in the good graces of Max Katze, who managed, financed and supervised the affair. Two large trucks, donated by Messrs. Gaudette and Heller, carried the "newsies" from Merrimack square to the pond leaving here about 10 a. m. This day's program included a varied list of sporting events on land and water and a substantial luncheon early in the afternoon. The return to Lowell was made in the early evening. Prizes were awarded the winners in the sporting events and to Leo Deignan, champion "newsie" of Merrimack square, fell the honor of giving out the coveted emblem of triumph.

NO CLAIMANT FOR SERVICE CROSS

A brand new Distinguished Service Cross, just out of the office of the war department, arrived at the local army recruiting station at 117 Merrimack street this noon and is awaiting some Lowell soldier to claim it. The cross was addressed simply to the "recruiting officer" and there was no indication for whom it was intended. The officers at the station are awaiting an explanatory letter which will tell to whom the cross belongs. At any rate, another name is added to the list of Lowell men whose valor in the world war has won for them exceptional distinction.

JAPANESE PRESS RAPS U. S. SENATE

TOKIO, Friday, Sept. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Discussion by the Japanese press of the action of the United States Senate foreign relations committee relative to the Shantung provision of the peace treaty shows that an unpleasant impression has been caused in Japan. Newspapers say that "considering Japan's repeated assurances that Shantung is to be returned to China, the committee's attitude is unnecessarily insulting and provocative."

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Charged with being present at a game on the Lord's day, 11 men pleaded guilty in police court this morning and were fined $5 each. The men were arrested early yesterday morning by Officers Moore, O'Neill, O'Sullivan, Conney, Winn and P. Clark, who gained entrance by a ladder into an upper room in an empty house off Market street, where the officers testified, they found a game of cards going full blast.

The names given by the alleged gamblers were: Nicholas Pittis, Charles John Costas Rakis, Gregorios Pigiatis, Constant Chaparlas, Peter Ballas, John Panas, George Kerkos, Louis Ballos, George Alafas, and George Makarunis. Found guilty of playing a game of dice—in this case, "shooting craps"—John J. Hurley was fined $10. Hurley was arrested by Patrolman Lemay on Salem street Sunday forenoon.

A fine of $30 was ordered by Judge Enright in the case of Augustus Lizotte, who pleaded guilty to operating an automobile while drunk.

TRADE BOARD MEETINGS

The following meetings are on the board of trade calendar for the present week: Tuesday, 6 p. m., first directors' meeting of the business year; Wednesday, Theatrical Managers' association, election of officers; Thursday, wooden box manufacturers; Friday, laundrymen.

PHYSICIANS MUST REGISTER
Any Lowell physician who has not recorded his certificate of registration as a practitioner of medicine with City Clerk Stephen Flynn should do so at once, according to a notification received at the city clerk's office today from Walter P. Bowers, secretary of the state board of registration in medicine. Section 2, Chapter 65, of the Acts of 1917, provide for such a record.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY
Members of the board of health and Agent Francis J. O'Hare have been invited to attend the 50th anniversary of the state board of health of Massachusetts to be held one week from today at the state house in Boston. A number of nationally prominent health experts have been secured to address the meeting and a most interesting program for health officials has been arranged. The speechmaking will be followed by a banquet in the evening. Local health officials plan to attend.

LEATHER WORKERS' CONVENTION HERE

The second annual convention of the United Leather Workers' International union will open in this city tomorrow and it is expected it will last at least three days. There will be delegates present from all parts of New England and the visitors will be entertained by the members of the Lowell local of the union, employees of the American Hide & Leather Co. The business sessions will be held in Leather Workers' hall in Central street and will be opened by the international president of the union. This will be the first convention of the organization in this city and the Lowell members are going to do their utmost for the entertainment of their guests. The committee in charge of the convention is as follows: William S. Buckley, chairman; Henry Newell, vice chairman; Joseph Label, secretary; Joseph Noonan, James Donnelly, Joseph Welch, Frank Latendresse and Fred Buckley.

RECRUITS FOR NAVY

Four Lowell men were forwarded to the U. S. S. Virginia from the local naval recruiting station today by Chief Carey. They were George Wallace, 87 South street; Harold Denney, 123 Fletcher street; Arthur J. Smith, 231 Cabot street and Joseph E. Bolin, 9 Dane street. All four enlisted as apprentice seamen.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place this morning when Francis J. Haggerty of the headquarters of the United States Army at Camp Devens and a former major of the O.M.I. Cadets and Miss Anna P. McKay, daughter of Mrs. Isabel McKay of 121 Fort Hill avenue were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated in the private chapel of the Immaculate Conception rectory at 5.30 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Dennis A. Sullivan, O.M.I. The bride was attired in white satin with veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude L. McKay, who was attired in white organdie and pink hat and carried pink roses. The best man was a brother of the bridegroom, Mr. William J. Haggerty. Both the bridegroom and the best man wore their military uniform. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride and later the happy couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return in two weeks they will make their home at 121 Fort Hill avenue.

Clamorous Welcome for Pershing

Tremendous Ovation as Commander of A. E. F. Returns Home to Report "Job Finished"

Cannon Boom, Guns Roar, Whistles Shriek, Thousands Cheer and Seaplanes Circle Overhead as Leviathan Steams Into New York Harbor With Conquering Hero Aboard—Nation, State and City Officials Pay Tribute

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Pershing is home.

Standing on the bridge of the huge Leviathan, itself symbolic of victory over Germany, the commander of the greatest host ever gathered under the stars and stripes, came slowly up the bay today, world famed and hailed as a conquering hero should be.

Sad of face, stern and impassive, a splendid figure of a soldier, he might have been thinking, as the familiar landmarks of New York came into view, of the day 27 months ago when he slipped secretly out of the harbor on his way to France to prepare the way for the hosts that were to follow. Then he was only a major general.

He came back today with four stars on his shoulders—the fourth since Washington to wear them under the American flag.

The welcome given him would have quickened the pulse of the hero of a Roman triumph. Fresh from the capitals of Allied Europe where honors had been heaped upon him, the first American to lead an army across the Atlantic was shown that "home-

sweet home" has a meaning deeper than "Hall to the chief."

Tremendous Ovation.

No foreign throats could voice the cheers, no alien hearts could pulse the greeting that was Pershing's here today. There was a hint of tears in the welcome for those who gave it knew that not even the plaudits of a grateful people could banish from the sad faced soldier's mind the memory of his own life's tragedy.

Dawn barely broke when the Leviathan loomed through the mists of Ambrose channel lightship. Steaming slowly through the narrow passageway, the great steamship was greeted by a convoy of six destroyers while seaplanes circled overhead.

Ports Boomed Salutes.

The forts which guard the harbor boomed a general salute as the ship, which once was the pride of Germany, crept past quarantine and nosed through the narrows into the harbor under the shadow of Liberty's statue. While the guns still echoed, the whistles of merchant vessels from the seven seas, tugs, ferryboats, excursion craft of every kind and the sillences of factories on shore, joined in a discordant salutation.

Thousands Line Shores.

The shores of Staten Island, Brooklyn, New Jersey and Manhattan were lined with thousands and shouting came faintly across the waters of the bay to the familiar figure on the bridge. They made up the vanguard of the vast army of well-wishers which already had packed Battery Park and overflowed into the streets beyond, waiting patiently until General Pershing had been greeted by Vice President Marshall and the secretary of war, and was ready to cross the Hudson river from Hoboken to the great city which was eager to pay him tribute.

Volley of Cheering.

The great liner came up to her pier at 8 o'clock and as she was being warped into her berth there was a tremendous volley of cheering from the crowd gathered there. General Pershing, smiling in appreciation with head bowed, bowed repeatedly in response. Once he forgot his dignity in his enthusiasm at returning home and

President Discusses Reservations to League of Nations for First Time

"Cannot Rewrite Treaty, We Must Take It or Leave It," He Declares

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 8.—Discussing for the first time during his speaking tour proposed reservations to the League of Nations, President Wilson replied in an address here today to arguments advanced by those who favor reservations.

"A reservation," he said, "is an assent with a big 'but.' We agree—but."

The proposed reservation providing for unconditional withdrawal from membership, he said, meant that its sponsors wanted to "sit near the door with their hand on the knob," and if they saw anything they didn't like to "scuttle and run."

The league provision that international obligations must be filled before withdrawal, never would restrain the

STORE KEEPERS OBJECT TO SIEGAL BILL

Vigorous opposition to the terms of the so-called Siegal bill, now before congress, which provides that retail merchants must designate on all goods they sell not only the retail price, but also the original cost price of each article, was expressed by 39 Lowell merchants at an enthusiastic meeting held in the board of trade rooms in Merrimack street this morning under the auspices of the mercantile association of the board. Harold L. Chaffetz presided.

It was voted to send a letter of protest to the congressional committee.

before whom this bill is to be heard. The merchants felt that it would be an injustice to them to be compelled to mark the cost price of their goods and then have to explain the wide difference between that and the retail price. The proposed law does not take into account the cost of transportation, freight, drayage, advertising, lighting and other overhead expenses which the merchant must pay. It is pointed out that considerable confusion would be caused and much time of salesmen and merchants taken up in explaining the divergence between the cost and retail prices of goods sold.

Another meeting of local merchants will be held at the board of trade rooms next Monday morning at 9.30 for a further discussion of the matter. It is also planned to form a mercantile division of the board at this meeting.

SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS!

Lowell's Public and Private Schools Opened Today—Big Attendance Reported

Precise Figures Showing New Registration Not Available; Portable Schools Occupied

Lowell's 1919-20 school season got under way this morning at 8.30 o'clock when all the public schools and the majority of parochial schools opened their doors after the long summer vacation. Increased attendances, due to the cessation of war industries, were the rule in almost every school.

In an atmosphere strongly inclined toward the humid Lowell's youngsters once more took up their books and studies for another onslaught against the forces of the unlearned. Customary opening day scenes were once more enacted, teacher greeted pupil and pupil teacher, vacation experiences were gone over, pupils became acquainted with each other and in a few short hours Lowell's complex educational system was again under way.

Of course, precise figures as to the new registration are not available today nor will they be for several days. But principals and superiors in the various schools reported that on the whole the attendance had increased over the 1918 figures.

According to Supt. Hugh J. Molloy the approximate normal registration

TO INCREASE AMERICAN LEGION MEMBERSHIP

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—A nation-wide campaign to increase the membership of the American Legion to 1,000,000 veterans of the great war will be started by all state branches and local posts throughout the country on Monday, September 15th. The drive will last six days, closing on Saturday, September 20th. In that time each state will be expected to fill a membership quota necessary to make the strength of the legion nationally one million members.

More than one-third of the million—400,000 soldiers, sailors and marines of the recent war organized in upward of 3500 posts from coast to coast—has already been obtained. Henry D. Lindsay, chairman of the national executive committee has appointed these 400,000 the general membership drive committee, each one with a quota of three of his "buddies" to enroll in his local post in the week of the campaign. The slogan of the drive will be "Let's Stick Together." It will be posted in large and small communities throughout the country.

The membership quota for each state has been worked out on the basis of the number of men who served in the army, navy or marine corps during the war from that state. Many states have already reached their assigned quotas already and the drive in those states will be to double their present enrollment. One of the chief incentives of the campaign will be the fact that each state's voting strength at the national convention in Minneapolis on November 10, 11, and 12 will be based on its membership prior to October 10, thirty days before the convention assembles.

The campaign for one million members will be conducted on intensive lines. Counties and posts will be assigned their individual quotas. Teams will be formed in each post and cities, towns and country districts divided into workable sub-divisions so that an opportunity will be available for a

Manufacturers Would Make Farmer the Goat—Statement by Houston

David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, does not assent to the theory that the prices of farm products should fall before the prices of manufactured commodities fall. He makes this clear in replying to a recent communication in which it was stated that "There must be a drop in prices before there is a drop in wages, and it would seem that the farmer is the man who is going to be first hit."

This theory has been advanced by a number of manufacturers, said the secretary, who continued, "It is clearly an unjust contention. It manifestly would not do to ask farmers to produce, buying everything that they have to buy from manufacturers at high prices, with the assurance to them that their products will fall in price, and that then manufacturers will consider what they will do with reference to their own prices. Obviously, manufacturers must be willing to make at least a contemporaneous decrease in their prices. It might even be contended that they should make a prior decrease in their prices, since the farmer's operations involve a year and he could not recoup for twelve months, or could not recoup at all, because, on the theory put forth, his products would fall in price. It seems to me that business men must be brought to realize that if we are to get back to the normal, they must not about immediately to do their part, and unreasonably protect their interests."

The largest butterfly known is a native of British New Guinea, measuring 11 inches across the wings. Specimens sell for $100.

manufactured products must be eliminated.

"Of course, everything possible will be done to enable the farmer to produce more economically, so that if prices do fall, he will not sustain a loss, or so great a loss. All the efforts of the department of agriculture and of the land-grant colleges have this aim. They are trying to bring about better methods of cultivation, better financing, better marketing, the elimination of plant and animal diseases and insect pests, and the better utilization of labor. Much has been done in this direction, and more will be done as time passes."

AFTER THE CELEBRATION
The members of the general committee in charge of the welcome home celebration for the French-speaking service men, which was held Labor day, held a meeting at the C.M.A.C. hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of receiving reports from the various sub-committees. It was announced

DELEGATES APPOINTED

Friends of Irish Freedom to Hold Convention at Worcester, Sept. 21

Twelve delegates to represent this city at the state convention of the Friends of Irish Freedom to be held in Worcester Sunday, Sept. 21, were appointed last evening by the Friends of Irish Freedom of this city at a well attended meeting in the Hibernian hall. The delegates chosen were: M. J. Noonan, P. J. Mahoney, M. J. Monahan, John Barrett, James O'Sullivan, Daniel Cosgrove, F. W. Moran, Miss Jennie Dillon, Mrs. John McInerney, John Kenney, M. F. Quinn and P. J. Kierce.

Another matter of interest and importance which came up at last evening's meeting was the report of James O'Sullivan on the hearing on the Irish question held before the senate foreign relations committee recently. The report was optimistic throughout and went into detail concerning the hearing. Congratulations were extended to Messrs. Walsh, Ryan and Dunne, who appeared in Paris as the representatives of the Irish race in America, as well as to Judge Cohalan, Burke Cockran and Rev. Dr. James Grattan Mythen. Mr. O'Sullivan expressed his confidence in the United States senate and said that its vote of sympathy had done much to make Ireland's question vital and international.

He hoped that the League of Nations would not be accepted until certain reservations were made in its covenant which would allow the establishment of an independent Ireland. Others present, including Daniel Cosgrove, were heard and remarks listened to with interest.

At 10 o'clock the meeting adjourned until the first Sunday in October unless otherwise called by the chair.

Welcome to Pershing

waved his cap as he saluted the happy throng.

At the pier were many dignitaries of nation, state and city and it was there he was welcomed on behalf of the nation.

"Hail, Hail, Gang's All Here."

The first division's band of 100 pieces on board the ship, the members of which had served throughout all the fighting in which the veteran unit had been engaged, began playing in response to the welcoming strains from the pier, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." and other airs, mingled with the cheers. For three blocks or more back from the river the jubilation could be heard. The Leviathan docked at 5.15.

General Pershing stepped ashore at 5.20 o'clock. Waiting for him was Secretary Baker with hands outstretched. Behind Mr. Baker were Senator Warren of Wyoming, General Pershing's father-in-law, Mrs. Warren and William G. McAdoo. Back of this little group were General March, a score of other generals and members of the mayor's committee of welcome.

After the first greetings were over General Pershing made this statement to the Associated Press:

"There isn't anything of consequence to say in circumstances like these. It is overwhelming, overpowering. To say that I'm glad to be home is superfluous. I accept this in the name of the brave fellows who came over and served to the best of their ability, making our success possible."

Baker's Address of Welcome

Secretary Baker, after expressing his own gratitude for the services of General Pershing read a letter from President Wilson telling of his regret at not being able to join in the reception and paying tribute to the returned soldier.

"About two and a half years ago," said Secretary Baker, "by the president's direction, I had the honor of designating you to lead the armies of the United States in France. Today you return, your mission accomplished with victory written on the banners of the greatest army the nation has ever had and with the priceless foundations of liberty and freedom saved for us and for the world as the result of our participation in the world war.

"The task entrusted to you required

all the imagination, all the energy, and all the genius of a great commander. From the first you had the complete confidence of the president and the secretary of war. This confidence remained unshaken to the end. From the beginning you had all the support the people of the United States could give. You and your great army embodied for them their country and their country's cause. They worked with devotion and self-sacrifice to sustain and supply you with troops and equipment. Their hearts went overseas with you and their prayers for your welfare and that of your men were constant.

"Doubtless the confidence and affection of your fellow citizens were an inspiration to you in the hours of preparation and in the hours of battle and the superb exploits of the army under your command were in turn an inspiration to our national effort.

Great Victories Won

"The great victories are now won. Your magnificent army has returned and the soldiers who once marched through the thickets of the Argonne are citizens again, filled with high memories of great deeds and carrying into life the inspiration which membership in that great company and sacrifice for that great cause engendered. Your return closes the history of the American expeditionary forces. The president had hoped to be here personally to speak on behalf of the nation a word of welcome. In his enforced absence, he has directed me to speak it.

"I bid you welcome, gratefully, on behalf of the country you have served and on behalf of the people whose souls you have led. The confidence with which we sent you away, you have sacredly kept. Wherever there is a soldier or a friend of a soldier, there is a lover of liberty; wherever there is a heart which rejoices at the deliverance of mankind from its peril, you and your great army are remembered and loved. You return not only to American soil, but to the heart of the country.

Pres. Wilson's Greeting

"The president has directed me to read to you this message:

"My dear General Pershing:

"I am distressed that I cannot greet you in person. It would give me the greatest pleasure to grasp your hand and say to you what is in my heart and in the hearts of all true Americans as we hail your return to the homeland you have served so gallantly. Notwithstanding my physical absence, may I not, as your commander-in-chief, and as spokesman of our fellow countrymen, bid you an affectionate and enthusiastic welcome—a welcome warmed with the ardor of genuine affection and deep admiration. You have served the country with fine devotion and admirable ef-

Efficiency in a war forever memorable as the world's triumphant protest against injustice and its vindication of liberty—the liberty of peoples and of nations.

"We are proud of you and of the men you commanded. No finer armies ever set their indomitable strength and unconquerable spirit against the forces of wrong. Their glory is the glory of the nation and it is with a thrill of profound pride that we greet you as their leader and commander. You have just come from the sea, and from the care of men of the navy who made the achievements of our arms on land possible and who so gallantly assisted to clear the seas of their lurking peril. Our hearts go out to them, too.

"It is delightful to see you home again, well and fit for the fatigues you must endure before we are done with our welcome. I will not speak now of our associates on the other side of the sea. It will be delightful on many occasions to speak their praise. I speak now only of our personal joy that you are at home again and that we have the opportunity to make you feel the warmth of our affectionate welcome."

Fanfare of Trumpets

As General Pershing was escorted to the upper deck of the pier, a guard of honor from the First Division presented arms while a large detail of officers saluted. Along the whole length of the pier there was a double line of soldiers and warfare workers who had seen service in France. As the commander approached there was a fanfare of trumpets.

Secretary Baker, who acted as master of ceremonies, escorted General Pershing to a platform, where he welcomed him in behalf of the nation. At the close of his address, Mr. Baker handed to General Pershing his permanent commission as a full general in the American army. The commander bowed his acknowledgment and then, leaning over the platform, handed the scroll to his son, Warren, who displayed all a small boy's delight in the proceedings.

Secretary Baker then introduced Senator Wadsworth of New York, who extended the formal welcome of the senate, and Representative Mondell, majority leader in the house of representatives, who spoke for his associates. Mr. McAdoo spoke the welcome of the city of New York, and Mrs. F. M. Swacker greeted General Pershing in behalf of the governor of Missouri.

Are Prayers Answered?

Read the Interesting Discussion of This Question

THE ORIGINAL LETTER THAT OPENED THE DISCUSSION

To the Editor of the Post:

Sir—I listened to a very interesting controversy the other day in regard to the efficacy of prayer. One man maintained that there never was any direct answer to prayer; that he who prayed talked to a blank stone wall, and that no answer ever came back, save that of echo or retroaction.

The other held that the Great Spirit that presides over the destinies of the universe does, in some way, listen to the individual prayers of his creatures, and that he sometimes answers them, although not perhaps in the form and way prayed for, but for the better benefit of his suppliant.

This is, to many, even though not professed Christians, an extremely interesting question. The Boston Post must reach a million or more of intelligent people in New England, many of whom are devout Christians, and who embrace people of almost every faith. What has been their experience in the matter of answer to prayer?

It would be extremely interesting if some of them would write to the Boston Post, stating simply what their experience has been.

August 22, 1919.

DOUBTER.

The above suggestion opens up an extremely interesting field of experience, and the editor of the Boston Post will be pleased to receive, from its many readers, brief letters giving their experiences as regards the efficacy of prayer. Kindly address such communications to Prayer Editor, Boston Post. Make them short and as specific as possible. It is not essential that the name of the writer should be printed, although desirable. All communications should be written on only one side of paper.

his home state. The general responded briefly.

Overwhelmed With Emotion

Gazing proudly upon the soldiers of the First Division, Gen. Pershing declared that the affectionate words of greeting overwhelmed him with emotion. He was happy to be once again on American soil, he said. Referring to the warmth of his reception, he said: "If this is to continue, I believe that before many days I might wish that the war had not come to an end."

Secretary Baker had been generous in his compliment. Gen. Pershing said, as to his part in the war. He declared, however, that the victory was won only by the united effort of the nation.

Pays Tribute to Doughboys

"The American army at all times," he said, "that it had the respect and unanimous support of the people at home."

He emphasized the achievements of his troops, declaring that their morale never was shaken for a moment.

"All credit," he said, "is due to those brave fellows who faced without flinching and with but little preparation a well drilled army. It is to them, Mr.

Secretary and my friends, to whom we owe the highest tribute for the winning of the war."

Referring tenderly to those who had fallen in battle, Gen. Pershing said:

Honor Those Left Behind

"Those whom we left behind are in the hands of an affectionate and grateful people. Their graves will be visited by Americans who go abroad and from these graves new lessons of patriotism will be learned."

At the close of his remarks, General Pershing turned to Secretary Baker and requested him to convey to President Wilson his sincere thanks for the confidence that had been displayed in him as commander of the American Expeditionary Force. He also thanked Secretary Baker for his confidence and the assistance he had given him at all times.

At the close of the ceremonies at the pier, Gen. Pershing and his party boarded the New York police boat. Patrol and were taken to Manhattan. He landed at Pier A, the battery, at 10.20.

General Steps Ashore

As the patrol boat approached lower Broadway there arose a roar of cheers. The battery wall and surrounding area were jammed with shouting men and women.

A band swung into the strains of The Star Spangled Banner as the general stepped ashore. An escort of mounted police formed a guard of honor and the commander entered an automobile with Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of the mayor's committee of welcome, to be escorted to the city hall.

As the cavalcade passed into Broadway, it moved between surging throngs. Tens of thousands clamored their greetings from the great buildings lining the way. Streamers were hurled from building to building and from windows came a storm of confetti. As the cheers rose into a continuous roar, General Pershing rose and saluted and sat down again.

Only a few blocks had been traversed when he stood in the car and remained at salute. Finally, however, he seemed carried away with the enthusiasm of those who were greeting him, and himself waved his cap around his head.

When the commander started up the steps to the aldermanic chamber the cheering rose to an almost deafening thunder. Half way up the broad stone flight, General Pershing turned and stood for a few minutes at salute gazing out over the broad expanse of upturned faces. He entered city hall at 10.45 a. m.

Commissioner Curtis Finds
19 Members of Hub Force
Guilty

Convicted of Violating Orders Because of Their
Union Affiliations

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The possibility of a strike of policemen because of official opposition to their union was advanced today with the announcement by Commissioner Edwin E. Curtis that he had found 19 patrolmen, most of them union officers, guilty of violation of department orders because of their union affiliations. The punishment to be imposed, he said, would be published in general orders, probably tonight. Discharge, suspension or reprimand are possible penalties.

Notice that the policemen would declare a strike if any of them were discharged or suspended, was served on Mayor Peters yesterday by labor leaders, but the police union itself as yet has taken no strike action. Meetings were called for this afternoon and tonight, however, to consider what should be done in the light of the announcement of the commissioner this morning, which had been anticipated.

At the head of those found guilty was Patrolman John P. McInnes, president of the union and until recently a captain in the army. The other principal officers of the union also were included.

The commissioner and the union leaders had before them today a proposal from Mayor Peters, recommended by his special committee that they settle their differences by having the union abandon relations with the American Federation of Labor; having the commissioner make no discrimination against officers because of their union membership and recommending that the wages and working conditions of the policemen be readjusted. The mayor expressed the opinion that the plan offered a basis for early and satisfactory settlement of the controversy.

KNIGHT TEMPLARS GO TO PHILADELPHIA

More than 200 Lowell Knights Templars and their families left Lowell at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the annual convention of the order held at Philadelphia. The local Masons traveled on a special N. Y. N. H. & H. train from Lowell to Fall River and took the boat from there to New York city. A crowd of several hundred was at the depot at the time of departure to bid the departing Knights an enthusiastic farewell.

It was previously planned to parade from Masonic Temple to the railroad station, but the excessive heat of the day caused the abandonment of this idea. The Knights wore fatigue uniforms of plain blue with visor caps.

With the arrival in Philadelphia today the visiting delegations from all parts of the country were taken on sight-seeing tours until 3 o'clock when the conference was officially opened in Independence square. President Woodrow Wilson was expected to be present to deliver the principal address.

STREET RAILWAY MOVES OFFICES

Manager Thomas Lees of the local street railway together with his clerical staff and the operating force of the claim agent's department, took up their new quarters today in the Market street car house off Middlesex street. The remainder of the office force, which has been for several years in the Grosvenor building in Merrimack square, will move to the car house during the next ten days, with the exception of the transportation superintendent, Ward Leavitt, who will have an office in the Howe building.

The street railway waiting room at the square will also be abolished some time in the next two weeks, in conformity with the plan of the company to cut out waiting rooms in all cities served by the system. Commutation tickets and school tickets will be on sale at the office in the Howe building, company officials said today.

WELCOME JEWISH BOYS

A welcome home reception to the 60 Jewish boys who left the Spindler City to follow the colors will be given by the Jewish people of the community the latter part of this month and at a recent meeting of the Y.M.H.A., which is handling arrangements for the event, the following committee was appointed to take charge of the affair: Max Carp, William Levine, Sigmond Rosler, Harry Gerson and Dr. Harry Ginsberg. The exact date of the celebration, as well as further details concerning it, will be decided upon at a meeting of the Y.M.H.A. to be held this week.

PEACHES FLOODING FRUIT MARKETS

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The temporary sugar shortage, which has played havoc with the canning industry in Massachusetts during the past two or three weeks, is responsible for enormous quantities of fruit going to waste—particularly peaches. In view of this fact the commission on the necessities of life is urging householders throughout the state to take advantage of the situation by buying the fruit which are now flooding the fruit markets, at low prices, for immediate consumption.

The food value of peaches is greater than is generally accredited to them, for although their flavor gives palatability and variety to the diet and aids digestion by stimulating digestive fluids, they are also recognized as an energy-building food. In this respect three medium sized peaches are approximately equal in value to each of the following:

One large egg.
Five-eighths cup of milk.
One medium sized potato.
Two slices of bread.
Three-fourths cup of cooked farina.

Peaches can be prepared in many ways—and while many people are not attempting to can them at present because of the sugar shortage, they fail to realize that fruit can be canned by the cold pack method without the use of sugar. Among the various uses of peaches, for which recipes are prepared, are the following: Baked peaches, steamed peach pudding, peach cobbler, Dutch peach cake, dried peach Betty, peach tapioca, peach jam, peach butter and peach jelly. Any of these recipes will be supplied on request.

ERECT MONUMENT TO SERVICE MEN

If plans are not changed, a monument will soon be erected in St. Joseph's cemetery to the memory of the French-speaking service men of this city, who lost their lives while in the service, the monument to be erected under the auspices of the general committee in charge of the celebration, which was held last Monday.

The celebration last week was successfully carried out through funds raised by social events and public subscriptions. Now it seems that there will be a substantial balance left after all bills have been paid and this money will be utilized in purchasing a monument to the memory of the dead heroes. The date of the unveiling of the monument will be announced later.

INJUNCTION RESUMED TODAY

The joint hearing on the petitions of the Federal Shoe Co. and the L. H. Spaulding Shoe Co. for an injunction against certain members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union of this city, which started at the local court house last Tuesday was resumed this morning before G. A. A. Devey of Cambridge, acting as master. The petitioners concluded their case last Friday and this morning testimony was heard from union men. The witnesses today included Organizer E. J. McInnes of Salem, Louis Connors of the local police department and Business Agent George W. Racine E. J. Tierney appeared for the petitioners and D. J. Donohue for the respondents. It is expected that the hearing will be brought to a close in two or three days.

MORE SEWER MEN DROPPED SATURDAY

Another big decrease in the number of sewer department employees was ordered by Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy Saturday when 49 men were dropped. There are at the present time about 15 men employed in the department. Commissioner Murphy is awaiting the arrival of $5000 owed the sewer department by the United States Housing corporation which was promised him several weeks ago but which has not yet arrived.

Unless more funds are forthcoming it is believed the commissioner will have to drop more men this week and probably close the entire department. Several weeks ago he was obliged to drop 60 employees of the department temporarily but upon being voted a loan of $5000 by the municipal council, found his way clear to re-employ most of them.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

State Branch Meets at Greenfield—To Favor Organization of Police

GREENFIELD, Sept. 8.—The 31th annual convention of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, which opened here today was expected to adopt resolutions favorable to the organization of policemen and insurance agents. Delegates from Boston and other cities where the police have sought union affiliation, were expected to urge that the question be made a state wide political issue.

Delegates favoring the unionization of insurance agents expected considerable opposition. In previous attempts to obtain an American Federation of Labor charter, the agents have been refused on the ground that they were not productive.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday afternoon at the Sacred Heart rectory when Mr. Albert W. Wallace and Miss Ella V. Mone were united in marriage by Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The bride was attired in white georgette with pearl trimmings and wore a veil caught up with lilacs of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Dolie Mone, sister of the bride, wore pink georgette and carried pink roses. Mr. William C. Gill acted as best man. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl necklace, while the groom's favor to the best man was a set of gold cuff links. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride where a musical program was given. A wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were the recipients of many costly and beautiful wedding gifts. After an extended trip to Cranby, Canada, they will make their home in this city.

Chase—Wallace
Mr. William L. Chase and Miss Myrtle C. Wallace, both of this city, were united in marriage Saturday, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Asa R. Dills, of the Calvary-Baptist church. The best man was Mr. Thomas F. Gallagher, while the bridesmaid was Miss Lillian B. Weston, both of this city. After refreshments were served the young couple left on an extended wedding tour, having the well wishes of a host of friends. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in North Chelmsford.

McGee—Brennon
Mr. Edward McGee of New York and Miss Mildred L. Brennon, of this city, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lucy E. Brennon, 29 Georgia avenue by Rev. Earl T. Davis of the Paige Street Baptist church. The matron of honor was Mrs. Elmer G. Brennon, while the best man was Mr. Elmer G. Brennon, brother of the bride. The couple will make their home at 29 Georgia avenue.

GRANTED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

(Special to The Sun.)
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The J. J. Spillane Company of Lowell was granted articles of incorporation by the secretary of state Saturday. It is the purpose of the new corporation to engage in the plumbing business. The incorporators are J. J. Spillane, Katherine P. Murphy and John Devlin, all of Lowell. The capital stock is fixed at $5000, being divided into 200 shares of common at par value of $25. Of it Spillane has subscribed to 150 shares and Devlin and Katherine P. Murphy to five each. Spillane is named as president of the corporation, Katherine Murphy, as treasurer and Devlin as clerk. The entire 200 shares of stock will now be issued, $5 being paid for in the form of merchandise, $5 in that of bills receivable and $5 in that of good will.

STEADY IMPROVEMENT IS NOTICED HERE IN THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

The unemployment situation in Lowell is steadily improving, according to Examiner Cronin, of the United States employment bureau. Less than 2500 people are unemployed here at present, says Mr. Cronin, while August 1 fully 3000 were looking for work. The examiner has positions open for unskilled female help out-of-town, as well as cement masons and laborers, carpenters, woolen spinners and blanket weavers. In the city there are vacancies for carpenters and sheet metal workers, and a few jobs at Camp Devens for ex-service men.

YOUR STAGE FAVORITE PLAYING IN A TENT

BY FREDERICK M. KERBY
NEW YORK, September.—"Hamlet" and "Little Eva," the "Follies" and "Gaieties" and "Scandals" and all the rest of them may appear in your town looking like the old-time traveling medicine show, put up their tents, sell tickets out of the regular circus wagon "box office," and move on to the next "stand" taking their canvas "theatre" with them.

The traveling tent show is a possibility if the Managers Protective association refuses indefinitely to recognize the Actors' Equity association.

"If the managers take the attitude that they will not furnish entertainment to the public, then the actors will," said one of the officers of "Equity."

"Our plans for putting out road shows are not yet completed, but the entertainment committee is hard at work and will have a report ready in a few days. The managers will find that a building does not constitute a theatre; people will go to a hall, or a barn, a tent, or even an open field to see good acting, in a good play."

The Equity association is determined to organize the production of plays on a co-operative basis, if managers do not come to terms. The big benefit vaudeville show now running at the Lexington Avenue theatre in New York has not only been a tremendous success financially, but the actors have done something that the public has enormously appreciated—they have eliminated the "ticket speculator."

The managers have always professed that they were unable to eliminate this form of graft, but the actors, by refusing to sell except at the box office and to bona fide patrons, have put the "shark" out of business.

Two other co-operative productions have been staged by the actors. The success of these shows will be followed by the organization of road companies.

American officers received that special training evolved in combat with the wily savages which proved of peculiar value in certain phases of the highly scientific modern warfare in France and Belgium.

They were taught the art of scouting, of trailing and of perfect self-reliance in the school beyond the ken of any European soldier and many a midnight raid by the Americans into No Man's Land doubtless found its inception and clever execution in the brain of one of these one-time Indian fighters of Pershing's type.

Welcome to Pershing

Continued
Pershing he will be the fourth man to hold that coveted title in the army of the United States. The other three were Grant, Sheridan and Sherman.

As the central American figure in the world war, with the single exception of President Wilson, so much has been written about Pershing, and his life and history are so fresh in the public mind that it is difficult to tell the average American anything new about the man who commanded the great army on the battlefields of Europe.

When some of Pershing's friends speak of his rise to a position of great military importance in world affairs, they refer to a story quite commonly told of Charles M. Schwab, the ironmaster, who is said to have remarked to his old Scotch gardener, a friend of his childhood: "You never expected to see me in this place, did you?"

And the gardener is said to have replied: "You never expected it yourself."

Promoted by Roosevelt.
As late as the time of the Russo-Japanese war in 1904, Pershing, over 40, still was a captain in the regular army. His associates say he never grumbled, but always kept plugging at his job. Reams and reams have been written about how he took a prominent part in the pacification of the Philippine Islands and how President Roosevelt made him a brigadier general jumping him over the heads of exactly 552 other men who were senior to him on the service roll.

When Pershing took the punitive expedition to Mexico after the bandit Villa, he became the only living officer in the American army who had commanded any body of troops so large as a brigade in anything approaching action. It is true that the late General Funston commanded more than a brigade on the Vera Cruz expedition but Funston's troops never got into action.

Plunged into Indian Wars.
From the time Pershing graduated from West Point in 1885 he had his full share of active and valuable service in the army. Like his classmates he immediately was plunged into the Indian wars. He entered a campaign against the great Apache chief Geronimo, who for many years had kept the great southwestern country almost closed to immigration by his skill and bravery. It was in those campaigns that many of young brilliant reputations as Indian fighters and each had been picked by President Roosevelt for extraordinary promotion because of their high promise of military ability. Roosevelt had made Wood a brigadier general in 1891 and he made Pershing, then a captain, a brigadier general in 1906 to the absolute consternation of the old line of the army because it involved the "jumping" of both officers over many hundreds of their seniors.

Goes to Mexican Border.
When he returned home in 1914 he was given but a short rest in San Francisco. Trouble began on the Mexican border and he was sent there in command of the Eighth Brigade, charged with the special duty of running down or driving off Villa. His expedition penetrated many miles into Mexico and army officers believed that the ultimate capture of Villa was prevented only by recall orders from Washington where the authorities decided that they were unwilling to continue a military policy seeming certain to involve the United States in regular war with Mexico.

When Pershing was chosen to command the American forces in France, he took with him many of the browned and hardened veterans of his Mexican campaign and these men formed the nucleus of the famous First division of the American Expeditionary Force.

Terrible Tragedy.
A terrible tragedy had come into Pershing's life during his Mexican campaign. His wife and three of their children were burned to death in their home at the Presidio, in San Francisco, during his absence.

It was not until Pershing was certain that the plans he had made with the assistance of his own staff for a successful campaign into Alsace-Lorraine had behind them the support of a sufficient number of American soldiers that Pershing felt justified in taking complete command of an important sector of the line of battle with the full assent of Marshal Foch and with the result that the American army broke the morale of the Germans and brought the war to an end.

SWIVEL CHAIR CIRCULATION

We noted a full page in a certain Boston paper last week in which attention was called to the fact that it printed itself on being read by more Boston business men than any other paper published in that city. The business men, however, give most of their advertising to the papers which reach the masses of the people on whom they depend for patronage.

The Sun is read by business men but its strong pull as an advertising medium is its wide circulation among all the people rather than any particular class. The home circulation is a rule is that to which the merchant makes his appeal. Why? Because when money earned by the worker starts out again in the process of being spent, and put in circulation, it starts from the home and generally in the hand of the woman of the home. The Sun, filled with advertisements of articles the home must have, goes straight to the home as any one of some 20,000 odd families in Lowell and vicinity are ready to certify. If you want to get your ad as close to the family pocketbook as possible, put it in

John Kane, residing at 465 Suffolk street, was suffocated last Thursday afternoon, in a coal pocket of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet company. The superintendent, according to a local paper, "regretted sincerely the loss by such an accident," as Kane had been a faithful employee of the company for two and a half years.

The loss to the company seems to trouble the superintendent more than the death of the victim and the loss to his relatives if he had any. These fatal accidents to men employed in putting out fires in coal pockets are getting far too common. There have been many similar accidents in which men called upon to transfer coal from one pocket to another or to dig the fire out of a burning coal pile lost their lives. It is a job so hazardous that it is almost criminal to ask any man to do it unless he is duly protected against the coal slides that result from the consumption by fire underneath or due to the top of the pile being undermined by removal of the coal lower down. In one case a man trying to remove coal that had been on fire dropped into a cavity from which the coal had been burned to ashes and his death was duly reported, just as if it had been an accident due in whole or in part to his own carelessness or lack of judgment.

The man who has his head down shoveling the coal is not the one who can tell whether there is danger. The foreman or superintendent who directs the work, should guard the lives of the men, and if he fails in this, either he or the company he represents should be held criminally liable. It is very difficult to keep bituminous coal exposed to the air without taking fire from spontaneous combustion. The fire may be burning for weeks before detection and may have consumed tons of coal in the lower stratum of the pile, so that a man set to work on top of the mass, is liable to sink into the fire underneath the surface with fatal results. Or, if a man be set to work to remove the coal from any part of the pile, over or near the fire, the fine coal higher up under the force of gravity may slide into the depression thus formed and bury him beyond hope of rescue.

It is high time the Industrial Accident board looked into this class of accidents and provided the necessary protection for workmen. In our opinion that corporation that sets a man to work on such a job without properly guarding his life, bears a great responsibility. No one doubts the result of an investigation of the ordinary process of law, is where the socialist try to make would find the corporation in such a case "not criminally liable" but it deserves more credit for going behind a barrer than for any other single policy for him in case of a coal fire, and the which he has stood for many years, should stand on a board. Robert he may have been on some enough to protect him from sliding points but upon the socialist issue into a something further. It is time the law was found as a rule and this to stop a number of human life resulting from ordering men to work on a burning coal pile without any protection what-so-ever.

DEPORT THEM

The National Socialist party at its convention at Chicago came out squarely in favor of ousting or Bolshevik government such as they have in Russia. The dispatches state that the delegates passed their feet and cheered for several minutes when the paragraph was read approving the Soviet republic of Russia. Delegates were Soviet buttons sent by a local branch of the Russian socialist federation. Another offshoot was organized to be known as the communist party, patterned after the Russian soviet system and composed entirely of wage earners. Rose Pastor Stokes announced that she would join the communist party. Of course she will. She appears ready to join anything that savors of revolution or anarchy. The resolutions appealed to the workers of the United States "to do all in their power to restore and maintain their civil rights to the end that the transition from capitalism to socialism may be effected without resorting to the drastic measures made necessary by the autocratic despotism."

The socialists are working to overthrow what they call "capitalism" which means the government of the United States. What is their method? Simply to keep on asking higher wages and higher and enforcing the demands by a strike until capital must yield and turn over the factories, the banks, and all the institutions of government to the socialists. Then the constitution is to be wiped out and the socialist ideals now in force in Russia are to be established here. That is the meaning of socialism as it exists in this country today. The Russian method is to be substituted for the freest and best constitution ever framed by the mind of man. Every man supposed to own any property must deliver it up or be killed. He may be killed anyhow as a menace to the new regime same as the bourgeoisie are slaughtered in cold blood in Russia even after being robbed of their worldly possessions. Glorious isn't it? But the socialist convention has shown to the American public just what socialism as it exists today means to this and every other free country. It is a menace that must be met in the proper way and with a firm hand. If these people are so enamored with the soviet government of Russia let them go to Russia and enjoy its benefits, but they cannot introduce it here. Every town and every city in the United States has a duty to perform in shutting off the spouters of this organization who get up in the public parks, the streets and the byways to preach their anarchistic doctrines. They have planned extensive propaganda work. That doubtless includes the distribution of handbills, in public assemblies. This should be outlawed inasmuch as it furnishes the means by which the organization is recruited with new members throughout the country.

Labor unions will have to exercise great care not to be influenced in their action by the socialist element in their ranks. That der ordinary process of law, is where the socialist try to make would find the corporation in such a case "not criminally liable" but it deserves more credit for going behind a barrer than for any other single policy for him in case of a coal fire, and the which he has stood for many years, should stand on a board. Robert he may have been on some enough to protect him from sliding points but upon the socialist issue into a something further. It is time the law was found as a rule and this to stop a number of human life resulting from ordering men to work on a burning coal pile without any protection what-so-ever.

SUGAR FAMINE

There is something wrong in the state that the delegates passed their feet and cheered for several minutes when the paragraph was read approving the Soviet republic of Russia. Delegates were Soviet buttons sent by a local branch of the Russian socialist federation. Another offshoot was organized to even little children and the sick had to go without this essential article of diet.

If the food administration has not entirely ceased to function, it should look into this matter and see to it that there is a more equal distribution of sugar.

The American Sugar Refining Co. apparently owes an explanation to the public in reference to this very serious state of affairs. We are trying to reduce the large infant mortality here, but the lack of sugar for infants is likely to increase it. Hence the necessity of immediate action on the question of having the food stores supplied.

Possible the supply is limited at home in order that large shipments may be sent abroad but why persist on our own people to suffer in order to relieve those of European nations?

That large store of sugar hoarded by Charles Town for shipment abroad should have been put on the market for home consumption.

Somebody is to blame for the sugar famine in Lowell at the present time.

Evidently it is time for the food administration to act.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Today the schools reopen and boys and girls are joyously flocking back to greet their teachers, not crawling like snails as described by Shakespeare in the olden times.

Today the schools are made to fit the children rather than the reverse. As for the public school teachers, they are not a very happy class of employees. They find that their salaries have shrunk in value almost 50 per cent., so that the recent increase granted does not square things for them. But they are patient and will do their work well regardless of this discrepancy.

Today the pupils have opportunities for learning the fundamental principles of trades in manual training, sewing and other domestic arts. The parents do not quite appreciate what is being done for their children, but they should show their interest in the work and cooperate most cordially with the teachers as it is only thus the best results may be obtained.

The government aroused considerable interest hereabouts when it announced an auction sale of used automobiles at Camp Devens, when in their fancy many people saw an opportunity to purchase a sumptuous passenger vehicle for a song or two. But the bubble is broken. No real touring cars will be sold—just sixty-odd machines, not able to proceed under their own power in their present condition.

Nobody as yet has given us a clear explanation of the reaction of the wholesale market upon retail prices. The moment a commodity is quoted in wholesale bulk at a higher figure, the retail price jumps up over night, but when the bottom drops out of the pork and corn market, no recession is noted in retail charges. The profiteer is unwilling to relinquish his hold on a good thing.

Officers who served in the army during the emergency of war and now discharged are receiving letters requesting their co-operation in the districts in which they live in a campaign for the establishment of universal military training for young men. The organization back of the movement has for its slogan, "Let us not again be caught unprepared."

We eagerly read that when the retired Mr. Caruso stepped down the gang-plank at New York he wore a blue Norfolk suit, gray, double-breasted vest, tan oxfords, and a green velvet hat with the brim turned up on the left side. Sure it was the left! And like all other famous songsters, he had a most disagreeable cold. So sorry!

Cheer up folks, Robert Hoover will sail for home this month. That he may have an opportunity to try his luck at negotiating prices and have his efforts crowned with the same success which marked his "substitution" campaign is the fervent wish of thousands.

If the salaried man works hard enough he may be promoted to a position which pays wages, but it will be a long hard job and fraught with harrowing experiences of poverty and want to see the goal is reached.

SEEN AND HEARD

Welcome home.

To temporarily fill a position of authority and have those with whom you deal give their best efforts and complete co-operation is a very happy experience and certainly makes life worth living.

We heard the other day of a barber who asserts that he is just about the speediest man that ever happened. This bird says he gave a man a shave, haircut, sing, shampoo and tonic in 8 minutes and 43 seconds. No, he doesn't live in Lowell.

We know one man who can beat the clock out of living. He got married a few weeks ago and after the marriage service was performed, asked the preacher if he had a blank check. The preacher then left with his bride, calling the groom on the phone ten minutes later to ask that the check be held up because it was made on the wrong bank. The preacher hasn't heard of him since.

Evidence All in One.
"I hear Judge Jinks has cases enough to keep him busy for the next two years."

"I should say he has! Why he has enough cases in his cellar to keep him busy the rest of his life!"

To be Jury
"Guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge.

"Why should I tell you?" replied the prisoner, "when you've got a jury to find out."

Isn't Nature Wonderful

Break dancing is on its last legs. 500 dance engineers in convention give the thumbs north sign on trick dances.

Gonna copy the old waltz and two-step back on the waxed oak. Figure now that the reconstruction period is on, we ought to unwind back to the old model hop. Many claim that the tango had a foot in starting the war. And a lot argue now that peace is a flat tire since the war left it tangled up in jazz slumps. Another feature the dance experts figure on adding to the launching of the new old dances is that ladies will shuffle in forward gear half the dance instead of being pushed backwards all through a hop.

With the present dances, couples push the floor all over themselves. May I have the pleasure of this waltz? Cat-tum-tum-tum-tum-tum.

The Passing of the Chestnut Tree

(Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.)

(With Apologies to Henry W. Longfellow.)

The smith, a wealthy man is he;

He runs the town garage;

As for the spreading chestnut tree,

'Tis now but camouflage.

Machine upon a painted post,

It symbolizes a sign,

A man and another machine ghost

Of smuggy green design.

No more the nimble, swift-tailed beast

And garner from its store a feast

To last the winter through.

No more the nut-batch seeks its prey

Adown the seamy hole,

No more upon an outer spray

Shall nest the oriole.

No more the village lads carouse

The morning after frost,

No more against its suffering laughs

The urchin clubs are tossed.

No more in early winter-time

Shall stand behind the steam

Thimble who sells us for a dime

Our happy boyhood's dream.

No more the spitter as we greet

The aged and infirm;

No more the scolding meet

Upon the roasted wren.

Face and nose on O. chestnut-tree!

Still make his rendezvous

Yet know your memory shall be

Forevermore preserved.

Though dead, yet shall you live and thrive

Beyond the bounds of Time.

For here we cherish shall keep alive

The spirit of our prime!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Did you ever notice in your rambles throughout the downtown section how many pedestrians—of both sexes—make use of shop windows to get a mirrored glimpse of their personal appearance, rather than to study the offerings of the merchants? The other day I stationed myself, more for curiosity than anything else, in front of a store window not far from Merrimack Square which gives an unusually clear reflection. I was surprised to find that of the first fifty passers-by, forty used the windows as a mirror. The following Sunday, when Lowell folks come out in their best apparel as a rule, only one of the first fifty pedestrians failed to give himself or herself the "once over" and many of the others made use of window mirrors to rearrange their hair or personal apparel.

The end seat on the electric car is a coveted one, there is also another seat and that is the man who in a closed car and in a closed doorway on the top platform and refuses to move to clear a passage to board or alight from the car. I saw one of these seats in Lowell's True last week on a Monday night car on its way to Merrimack Square and back to the city.

One of the passengers, a man, pushed the door open and stepped out. He was a short, stout, balding man, with a large nose and a large mouth. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a dark tie. He was looking back over his shoulder at the car as it started. He was looking at the car as it started. He was looking at the car as it started.

got out, and who by the way was also of pretty good build, for he simply brushed against the obstructor and almost threw him off the car, at the same time giving him a squeeze that he will long remember. "What are you trying to do?" remarked the stout man, "throw me off?" "That is exactly what you would deserve," replied the other party. Just then the car was started again and the conductor politely informed the stout passenger that he should take a seat inside and not block the doorway while passengers are entering or leaving the car.

Relatives and friends of Lowell soldiers who are still in the service will be heartened by information received a day or two ago from the war department by Sgt. A. C. McLeod, the officer in charge of the local army recruiting station at 117 Merrimack st. The communication states that all men who were enlisted or drafted into the army for the war period who are physically eligible for discharge will be released from the service not later than Sept. 30. There are still a number of Lowell men in uniform who are anxious to get back to civilian status, but who for one reason or another have had to remain in the service long after the end of the war. Unless a man cannot be replaced by another soldier or if he is not in confinement for some misdemeanor, he will receive his discharge by the end of the month whether he is serving in this country or abroad. Of course, this does not apply to the men who enlisted in the army for the full four-year term. The recruiting campaign which has been waged for the past several months has resulted in a large number of new men coming into the service to take the place of those who served during the war and the war department seems to feel that it is time to give the veterans a rest. And many a Lowell mother and father will heartily second the motion.

GERMANS KILL U. S. SOLDIER

Hun Patrol Fires On American Guards in Neutral Zone

Munitions Recently Sold by Americans to German Firms Explode

COBLENZ, Sept. 8. (By the Associated Press)—Private Reass Madsen of Sacramento, Calif., was shot and instantly killed yesterday by German soldiers in the neutral zone within about a mile of the boundary of Coblenz bridgehead.

Madsen and Private Bert Balsinger of the Eighth Infantry, who had been on outpost duty, were deer hunting when they encountered a German patrol of 13 soldiers. According to Balsinger, the Germans began firing without asking an explanation as to why two Americans were in the neutral zone. Balsinger told the American authorities that when he and Madsen encountered the Germans he was several yards ahead of Madsen.

Balsinger said he dropped his rifle as soon as he saw the Germans, who a second afterwards began to shoot at Madsen. The Germans contended that Madsen fired at them. Balsinger declared that the Germans fired first and that if Madsen fired he did not see him shoot or hear the shot.

Balsinger was taken prisoner by the Germans and later turned over to the American provost marshal, Major Geo. Cockrell, and brought to Coblenz. Madsen will be buried in the American cemetery at Coblenz.

Explosion Near Coblenz

COBLENZ, Sept. 8.—Property valued at approximately 1,000,000 marks, sold recently by the Americans to the Germans, was destroyed Saturday by a series of explosions in ammunition dumps near Namsen. Among the material destroyed was ammunition worth 3,000,000 marks, which was sold Friday to a German company for commercial purposes.

Fire followed the first explosion and destroyed some 50 buildings scattered about a 46-acre tract, used for years by the Germans and then by the Americans for storing shells of various calibers. Thousands of large shells and millions of rounds of small arm ammunition which were abandoned by the German army were exploded, but there were no American casualties.

Six German girls employed in a dump were rendered unconscious by the first explosion. They were rescued by American soldiers.

The work of breaking up the shells was being done by Germans under American supervision. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

B. F. RITTS THEATRE

Charles Grapewin and Anna Chance, two of the foremost actresses on the American stage, will be the headliners on the bill which opens in this theatre today. In the past, the two actresses have been seen in many of the local Keith playhouses and it is in order to commemorate this auspicious opening that Manager Ritts has arranged for a unusually attractive gathering of players. As the audience will tell just how successful the vacation is for "Ted" as well as for friend, wife.

When it comes to acting force it would be difficult indeed to find a man anywhere on the native stage who knows more about it than does Mr. Grapewin. And he not only knows how to act it but he knows how to write it. His latest is considered everywhere as a real, high-powered, laughing vehicle. Before "Coughing" he gave the stage "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp" and "It's Up to You, John Henry." Grapewin's comedy is never forced. It is apparently spontaneous, and it is light and never unwhimsical. Miss Chance is a most capable assistant. In fact she is almost as much of the act as is Grapewin himself.

Val and Ernie Stanton, who bill themselves as "English Boys from America," are right jolly comedians. They are not unknown on the local stage, having given their noted "Gonzalez" act on at least one occasion. They cheerfully admit that they have nothing to do with the "Gonzalez" act, but they claim to have never claimed any position on the bill contrary to the orders of the stage manager. Outside of that they have nothing to do with the "Gonzalez" act, but they claim to have never claimed any position on the bill contrary to the orders of the stage manager.

A pretty, high-class vaudeville act, one fit to rank with the very best on the variety stage, is "Horses," in which, under the leadership of Mr. Vance, a team of horses is trained to perform a variety of stunts. The act is called a satirical comedy with songs, as much as Mr. Sylvester is a very good light comedian, and Miss Vance is a very good singer, and an admirable comedienne. This act ought to measure up to the standards of the most critical.

That's right. He is a big, seven-foot black fellow, weighing 300 pounds and he's the champion shimmy performer in the animal kingdom. Jim does a lot of things besides the shimmy. He is a roller skater, a wrestler, and he drills like a soldier. In the dancing line he does a Spanish fandango, a turkey trot, and a shimmy. Though Jim doesn't know it, he is also a very good comedian. Were he only aware just what laughter he creates through his antics he would be a first class comedian. He is a first class comedian.

of the east has witnessed in many seasons. During its original run in New York all of the well-known critics of the metropolis unhesitatingly pronounced it humorous, and when they say so their judgment carries considerable assurance with it. "That's Your Husband Doing" has hardly a second moment during the two solid hours of action. It tells the story of wives, and the reasons why several of them firmly believe their husbands to be divorcees. The question is humorously handled, particularly when the old Judge, who is himself implicated, is called on to pass judgment on his own wife. GALAXY OF TRACK STARS FOR BIG MEET

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The National track and field championships of the Amateur Athletic union, which are to be contested at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, next Friday and Saturday, have attracted the greatest galaxy of star performers ever entered for these events.

Nine sprinters are named for the 100 in 9-10 and four of them have beaten even time for the hundred. These two events will bring together in Louisville, Chicago, Charlie Paddock, Southern California; Harry Williams, Spokane; H. Kirkley, San Francisco; Billy Hayes, Boston; J. Taylor, Illinois; A. C. Loren, Murphree, J. R. Patterson and Peter White, representing New York clubs.

In the quarter-mile Frank Shea of Pittsburgh, who is said to be in fine form again, will be opposed by Jim Driscoll, Boston; Earl Eby and Al Spink, Chicago; Larry Scudder, New York; and possibly Jole Ray, Chicago, who last week ran a half-mile in 1:55 2-55.

In the mile run Ray, indoor record holder for the distance, will meet Jimmy Connolly, Boston; Eddie Egan, Chicago; Joe Stout, inter-allied 1500-meter champion, and Mike Devaney, J. Simmons and Bobby Crawford of New York. These men will make up a great field and the winner ought to come near to making a new record, providing the track and weather are favorable.

All of the best hurdlers in the country, including Simmons, Thompson, Kelly, Ames, Riedel and Frank Lammie, will meet in high and low events, and seven contests should result.

Charles Pores, present five-mile champion, will defend his title against Max Bouldard, Hanneke Kolehmainen and Paddy Flynn, all of New York, and Floyd Payne of Portland, Ore., who has never been beaten in a five-mile race.

Pat McDonald, Matt McGrath and Paddy Ryan will be seen in the weight events and in all the other field contests the entrants are a classy lot. Floyd Fass will try to beat his recent world's record of 13 ft. 8 1/2 in the pole vault, in which Carl Black of Chicago will defend his honors won last year.

ROSS MAY SWIM IN HAWAII
HONOLULU.—Norman Ross, swimming champion of the inter-allied games, is expected to be a feature of the big aquatic carnival opening in Honolulu, October 30.

LAMSON CO. EVENS UP K. OF C. SERIES

During base running by Herb White, which pulled the K. of C. infield off its toes and brought out two hurried throws which were turned into errors let the Lamson Co. baseball team deny the Knights at Spalding park Saturday afternoon in the second series game by the score of 2 to 1. A big crowd saw the contest.

For six innings Pete Condon and Owen Devlin locked horns in an even duel of pitching skill and the teams were deadlocked at one run each with White broke it up in the seventh frame. With two men gone, White, a right hand hitter, crossed up the dope by shooting a double to the left field fence. Joe Duffy sliced one down to Ray Ray, nobs and the latter, with plenty of time to make the play throw the ball low to Ray Foye. When it came down to Ray Foye, White never hesitated at third, but set sail for home. Ray pounced on the ball and hurled it in the general direction of Brother Walter. It was a wretched peg and White scored easily as the ball rolled to the stand.

The Lamsons were first to score. In the fifth McPherson gave up Devlin's four passes and was sacrificed along by White. Duffy died out to Haggerty, but Buckley dropped a single into centre. McPherson scoring. The throw-in was on a line, but W. Foye lost it.

K. of C. got the run back in the sixth. Liston started things with a clean single to left which caught McPherson flat-footed. Devlin sacrificed and Haggerty upset all traditions by driving a hit through McPherson on which Jimmy scored.

A SPRY VETERAN

Billy Salmon, 58, Captures 10 Mile Road Race

Billy Salmon, veteran marathoner, Saturday disproved the old adage, "youth will be served," when with a time allowance of seven minutes he won the 10-mile road race through the streets of Centralville in 1 hour, 2 minutes and 30 seconds. Captain, scratch man, was second and was followed across the finish line by Goddard Neill, Wells and Roddy in the order named. Goddard, Wells and Crove had a time allowance of one minute and Salmon, Roddy and Neill an allowance of seven minutes. Court, after striding along in good style during the first half of the journey seemed content to stay in second place. The course ran over Hildreth, Boynton, Bridge and Hampshire streets.

The race officials were George Carey, John L. Boughton, J. Mullin, P. Davis, D. Brassell, T. Crowe and P. Frawley.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Unity A. C. says it did not present its regular team against the St. Peter's S.S. last Saturday and that it was only a picked-up team at best which lost the decision. The regular Unity A. C. team is ready to play St. Peter's for a purse on any grounds except the South common.

The Universal "Thirde" defeated the Young Maoris A. C. on the North common Saturday afternoon.

The St. Peter's S.S. claim the 15 to 16-year-old championship of the city and any manager wishing to dispute it may see Manager O'Grady on the South common any evening.

TOBACCO HABIT DANGEROUS

says Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital. "Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases could be in perfect health today were it not for the deadly drug nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed and let the pernicious habit quickly vanish. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Connor soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning and how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result. A. W. Dows and Houthier & DeLisle—Adv.

Two Negroes Lynched by Mob

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 8.—Two negroes charged with murder were taken from the city jail here shortly after midnight and lynched. A mob of fifty men stormed the jail in search of a negro who was being held for assaulting a little white girl but who had been secretly sent to St. Augustine by court officers early last night after threats of violence. Finding their intended victim gone the crowd seized the two negroes charged with the murder recently of George Dubos, a white man, took them to the outskirts of the city in automobiles and shot them to death. They then placed ropes about the necks and dragged the bodies through the city streets. One body was dropped in front of a hotel.

Gen. Liggett Goes to Border

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 8.—Lieut. General Hunter Liggett, commander of the western department of the United States army, arrived here today from San Francisco, and left for what he termed a "tour of inspection" to the Mexican border. He said the trip had no significance in connection with conditions in Mexico.

More Japanese Troops for Siberia

TOKIO, Friday, Sept. 5.—Japan is not planning to withdraw troops from Siberia, according to an official statement issued at the war office. "Far from considering the withdrawal of troops from Siberia," the statement says, "conditions there may necessitate the sending of reinforcements to that country."

New Japanese Ambassador to U. S.

PEACEFUL DYNAMITERS

Blasting operations in the mill construction work at the Hamilton canal and subsequent re-echoing explosions Saturday night and yesterday morning caused slight apprehension in some parts of the city. To some the blasts brought fears of a gang of dynamiters, while others, scientifically inclined, saw a phenomenon in a thunder storm out of skies of blue. Canal workers must confine their operations to "dry" days.

WALSH WANTS RESERVATION

Mass. Senator to Oppose Ratification of Treaty in Present Form

Believes Several Features of Text Are Against True Americanism

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Senator Walsh is no longer counted among the doubtful men on extreme reservation which shall become a part of the treaty. He is now clearly placed in the anti-ratification ranks unless amendment or reservation is made a part of the treaty in such a manner that the terms are unmistakable. The senator has not as yet made a formal statement regarding his position, but has permitted it to become known that he does not favor a wholesale ratification as the text now stands. It has been known all along that he was strongly sympathetic with the position of Ireland in demanding recognition, but it is now understood that his objections to the treaty are not entirely based on the Irish question, but that he believes other features of the treaty are against true Americanism and that the nation will be endangered if the treaty is adopted without important changes. Senator Walsh has thus far been a staunch supporter of administration measures, and makes it very evident that he now departs from the course laid out by the president, although he feels convinced that a parting of the ways is now inevitable, so far as the treaty is concerned. It is understood that Senator Walsh will state his position within the next few days, and will address the senate soon after the treaty is reported out by the foreign relations committee.

RICHARDS.

MUNICIPAL OUTDOOR MOVIES

There will be no more municipal outdoor movies this summer, according to Supt. John W. Kernan, of the park department, unless a special request for them is received. The movies have been very successful this year and have attracted large gatherings on the North and South commons every week. The new bath house at the municipal swimming pool, off the Paytucket boulevard has been practically completed and dedicatory exercises will probably be held next week.

of the elementary schools of the city is 10,000. The high school registration has in the past reached 1600 or 1700. Both these figures will undoubtedly be materially increased when registration figures are available.

Herbert D. Dixby, headmaster of the high school, reported this morning that the fall term of the school had gotten under way without confusion and he anticipated a big increase in the attendance figures when they become available. All the buildings which were used by the school last year, including the main building in Kirk St., the main annex in Page St., the "coop" and part of the Kirk Street primary school, are all to be used again this year. There have been a few changes in the faculty as announced from time to time during the summer months.

The vocational school, both boys and girls' departments, opened this morning as per schedule with Principal Thos. P. Fisher at the helm. Registration for this school had been going on all last week and there was a large attendance at the opening session. This will be increased during the present week as registration will continue every day.

The first practical utilization of portable schools in this city to any considerable degree accompanied the opening of the public schools this morning. At the Washington grammar school three portable buildings which had been erected during the summer months were brought into play and three classes given lodging therein. Another portable school was opened at the Morey school grounds and a second will be completed here in a short time, according to Commissioner George E. Marchand. Commissioner Marchand also plans to open a portable building in the yard of the Varnum school at a later date to be used for manual training purposes.

The school sessions will be held at the same hours as last year. In most instances from 8.30 to 11.30 for the morning session and 1.45 to 3.45 for the afternoon session. However, there are variations of this schedule. In a number of the schools and for that reason the following table given out by Supt. Molloy will be of interest:

High School—8.25 a. m. to 1.25 p. m.
Elementary Schools—8.30 a. m. to 11.30 a. m. and 1.45 p. m. to 3.45 p. m.

Middlesex Village—9 a. m. to 12 m. and 1.30 p. m. to 3.30 p. m.

New Moody Street—8.45 a. m. to 11.45 a. m. and 1.15 p. m. to 3.45 p. m.

Lexington Avenue—8.45 a. m. to 11.45 a. m. and 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Vocational School, Boys—8.30 a. m. to 12 m. and 12.30 p. m. to 3.30 p. m.

Vocational School, Girls—8.30 a. m. to 12.30 p. m. and 1 p. m. to 3.30 p. m.

Evening High School—7 to 9.

Evening Vocational Schools: 7.15 to 9.15.

Evening Elementary Schools: 7 to 9.

"TO SCHOOL, TO SCHOOL, TO FOLLOW THE RULE"

The no school signal will be rung in stormy weather one hour before the time set for the opening of the session. That is, 7.30 in the morning and 12.15 in the afternoon.

The parochial schools of the city also opened today and without exception there were increased attendances noted, the reason being the same that held good in the case of the public schools—the closing of many avenues of employment to children of school age.

In practically every parish a mass celebrated at 8 o'clock preceded the opening of the parish school this morning. The masses were attended by the pupils as well as by a large number of their relatives and friends.

St. Patrick's academy opened this morning with members of the Xavierian order at the helm once more and Rev. Brother Nilus again took up his duties as superior. A mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church by Rev. Joseph Curtin.

St. Peter's parochial school in Gorham street also opened this morning and the opening was preceded by a mass at 8 o'clock celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Daniel J. Kellher, Pr. D. About 900 children were registered. The sisters of charity conduct St. Peter's school.

The Sacred Heart school in Moore street also reported an increased attendance at the opening of the fall term this morning. Pupils of the school and many other members of the parish attended the mass preceding the opening which was celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., the pastor. The sisters of St. Mary are again in charge of this school.

The Immaculate Conception school opened with a normal attendance this morning and the Grey Nuns are once more in charge. Rev. P. J. Phalen, O. M. I., celebrated the mass at 8 o'clock which preceded the school opening.

Rev. James F. Lynch was the celebrant of the mass at 8 o'clock which preceded St. Michael's school opening. Sister Mary William and other members of the Dominican order are again in charge of St. Michael's and an increased attendance was reported.

The various French parochial schools of this city, including Notre Dame de Lourdes school in Middlesex street, St. Joseph's parochial school in Aiken street, St. Joseph's school for girls in Moody street and the kindergartens of St. Joseph in Cheever street and Fourth avenue, all opened this morning under the supervision of the Grey Nuns. Appropriate services preceded the opening.

St. Louis parochial school in Bolvert street and St. Marie's school in Woburn street also opened this morning.

NOTICE

Owing to the demand for copies of The Sun of August 30, containing the address on the Irish cause by Rev. Dr. James Granton Mythen, we have printed a few hundred extra copies which are on sale at The Sun office at one cent a copy.

St. Stanislaw's parochial school in High street for Polish children opened this morning with Sister Amala of the Felician sisters in charge.

Supt. Molloy issued the 1919-20 school calendar today and the dates for various recess periods, etc., are in the main similar to those of previous years. The teachers will hold their first meeting of the school year Wednesday afternoon. The usual Columbus day and Thanksgiving holidays will be observed and the first vacation period will be from Nov. 26 to Dec. 8.

The Christmas vacation will begin Dec. 22 and will continue until Dec. 29. The schools will again close Feb. 29 and not re-open until March 1. The spring vacation will begin April 26 and continue until May 3. The schools will close June 22.

There are still a number of Lowell Textile schools to open. The State Normal school will open Wednesday morning as will Notre Dame academy. Both institutions anticipate increased registration this year.

The day classes of the Lowell Textile school will not begin until Monday, Sept. 23, and the evening classes Monday, Oct. 6. The evening schools of the city will open the week of Oct. 6. Rogers Hall school will be the last to open for day sessions, the first session to be held Oct. 2.

LOWELL "NEWSIES" HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Fully 100 Lowell newsboys were in their glory yesterday when they enjoyed their annual outing at Nabnasset pond due to their being in the good graces of Max Katze, who managed, financed and supervised the affair.

Two large trucks, donated by Messrs. Gaudette and Heffer, carried the "newsies" from Merrimack square to the pond leaving here about 10 a. m. The day's program included a varied list of sporting events on land and water and a substantial luncheon early in the afternoon. The return to Lowell was made in the early evening. Prizes were awarded the winners in the sporting events and to Leo Deignan, champion "newsie" of Merrimack square, fell the honor of giving out the coveted emblems of triumph.

NO CLAIMANT FOR SERVICE CROSS

A brand new Distinguished Service Cross, just out of the office of the war department, arrived at the local army recruiting station at 117 Merrimack street this noon and is awaiting some Lowell soldier to claim it. The cross was addressed simply to the "recruiting officer" and there was no indication for whom it was intended. The officers at the station are awaiting an explanatory letter which will tell to whom the cross belongs. At any rate, another name is added to the list of Lowell men whose valor in the world war has won for them exceptional distinction.

JAPANESE PRESS RAPS U. S. SENATE

TOKIO, Friday, Sept. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Discussion by the Japanese press of the action of the United States Senate foreign relations committee relative to the Shantung provision of the peace treaty shows that an unpleasant impression has been caused in Japan. Newspapers say that "considering Japan's repeated assurances that Shantung is to be returned to China, the committee's attitude is unnecessarily insulting and provocative."

GENERAL STRIKE IN CHILE AT END

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sunday, Sept. 7.—The labor federation of Chile today issued an order bringing to an end the general strike called last week. The employees in the various trades are directed to resume work tomorrow.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Charged with being present at a game on the Lord's day, 11 men pleaded guilty in police court this morning and were fined $5 each. The men were arrested early yesterday morning by Officers Moore, O'Neill, O'Sullivan, Cooney, Winn and P. Clark, who gained entrance by a ladder into an upper room in an empty house off Market street, where the officers testified, they found a game of cards going full blast.

The names given by the alleged gamblers were: Nicholas Philis, Charles John Costas Rakis, Gregorios Filpas, Costas Chagarias, Peter Ballas, John Panas, George Krokos, Louis Ballos, George Alafos, and George Makarunis. Found guilty of playing a game of dice—in this case, "shooting craps"—John J. Hurley was fined $10. Hurley was arrested by Patrolman Lemay on Salem street Sunday forenoon.

A fine of $30 was ordered by Judge Enright in the case of Augustus Laroette, who pleaded guilty to operating an automobile while drunk.

TRADE BOARD MEETINGS

The following meetings are on the board of trade calendar for the present week: Tuesday, 6 p. m., first directors' meeting of the business year; Wednesday, Theatrical Managers' association election of officers; Thursday, wooden box manufacturers; Friday, laundrymen.

PHYSICIANS MUST REGISTER

Any Lowell physician who has not recorded his certificate of registration as a practitioner of medicine with City Clerk Stephen Flynn should do so at once, according to a notification received at the city clerk's office today from Walter P. Powers, secretary of the state board of registration in medicine. Section 4, Chapter 55, of the Acts of 1917, provide for such a record.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Members of the board of health and Agent Francis J. O'Hare have been invited to attend the 50th anniversary of the state board of health of Massachusetts to be held one week from today at the state house in Boston. A number of nationally prominent health experts have been secured to address the meeting and a most interesting program for health officials has been arranged. The speechmaking will be followed by a banquet in the evening. Local health officials plan to attend.

After growing for 10 years, the Japanese cypress, one of the smallest specimens of the horticultural world, reaches the size of a golf ball. As it is exhausted with this tremendous effort, the next 10 years see it increase only by a fraction, when it practically stops growing altogether.

LEATHER WORKERS' CONVENTION HERE

The second annual convention of the United Leather Workers' International union will open in this city tomorrow and it is expected it will last at least three days. There will be delegates present from all parts of New England and the visitors will be entertained by the members of the Lowell local of the union, employees of the American Hide & Leather Co.

The business sessions will be held in Leather Workers' hall in Central street and will be opened by the international president of the union. This will be the first convention of the organization in this city and the Lowell members are going to do their utmost for the entertainment of their guests. The committee in charge of the convention is as follows: William S. Buckley, chairman; Henry Newell, vice chairman; Joseph Lebel, secretary; Joseph Noonan, James Donnelly, Joseph Welch, Frank Latendresse and Fred Buckley.

RECRUITS FOR NAVY

Four Lowell men were forwarded to the U. S. S. Virginia from the local naval recruiting station today by Chief Carey. They were George Wallace, 87 South street; Harold Dennysey, 123 Fletcher street; Arthur J. Smith, 231 Cabot street and Joseph E. Bolin, 9 Dana street. All four enlisted as apprentice seamen.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place this morning when Francis J. Haggerty of the headquarters of the United States Army at Camp Devens and a former major of the O.M.I. Cadets and Miss Anna P. McKay, daughter of Mrs. Isabel McKay of 137 Fort Hill avenue were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated in the private chapel of the Immaculate Conception rectory at 5.30 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Dennis A. Sullivan, O.M.I. The bride was attired in white satin with veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude I. McKay, who was attired in white organdie and pink hat and carried pink roses. The best man was a brother of the bridegroom, Mr. William J. Haggerty. Both the bridegroom and the best man wore their military uniforms. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, and later the happy couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return in two weeks they will make their home at 137 Fort Hill avenue.
